Richardson Bay Plan Criticisms Fly At Hearing

Planning Department Claimed Encouraging 'Houseboat Sprawl'

Property owners in Richardson Bay today blasted the county planning department's specific plan for development as too restrictive and charged it would lead to "the same houseboat sprawl" and a collection of wreckage and "architectural junk."

The strongest blast at today's hearing by the county planning commission came from Alexis Tellis, owner of Commodore Properties, which includes the seaplane base and the county heliport.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing George Kappas, and Tom E. Nowell Jr. also criticized the Richardson Bay specific plan.

Tellis objected to the amount of open water which the county planning staff proposes at Waldo Point.

ACREAGE ISSUE

Referring to the 38.2-acre Kappas property, Tellis proposed that 30 acres should be allowed for development instead of the 22.6 acres proposed by the county planning department.

On his own property totaling 2.2 acres, Tellis contended that the county plan would allow him no further development.

At present, he has two hangar buildings, of which one is used for rehearsals for rock groups. If he can't fill any more of his property, "why we'll just slap a coat of paint on those hangars and start looking around for a cheap foreign imports store and a nice MacDonald's hamburger stand," declared Tellis.

'A LOT WORSE'

He said the houseboats will stay and increase, and "I assure you that 10 years from now, Richardson Bay will look a lot worse than it does now.. Tellis charged that those who call themselves conservationists and opposing development of Richardson Bay are "castrating conservation."

Attorney Lawrence wanted to know what will happen to the existing Kappas houseboat colony if an open area is required as proposed in the county planning staff's specific plan. He said he would present his objections in more detail and in written form later.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the opponents were misrepresenting the figures given in his specific plan, but acting chairman Hugh Dougherty asked Zucker to withhold his rebuttal until after the property owners had spoken. Dougherty said the hearing on the specific plan would have to be contiuned beyond today to give commissioners a chance to analyze Tellis' proposal and to

Surtax May Be Buried —Mansfield

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield raised the possibility today that Congress might quietly bury the 10 per cent income tax surcharge this week by letting paycheck withholding of it expire.

"The surtax expires at midnight Thursday," Mansfield told reporters, referring to paycheck withholding. The surtax itself expired June 30 but Congress extended withholding for a month while considering President Richard M. Nixon's plea to extend the surcharge another year.

"If it goes out of existence Thursday it would be very hard to revive it in view of the deep undercurrent in this body," Mansfield said.

He referred to opposition by some senators toward Nixon's surtax proposal, under which the 10 per cent levy would apply for the remainder of the year, then drop to 5 per cent Jan. 1.

Mansfield said last week that Senate opposition to the surtax was increasing. He said the Administration was calling it a vital anti-inflation tool but had no evidence it had slowed inflation so far.

The House passed Nixon's surcharge proposal a month ago, and the Senate Finance Committee approved it. But Mansfield's Democratic Policy Committee has refused to put the bill on the Senate calendar until coupled with a tax reform measure.

House tax writers are working out a series of reforms, the latest of which would give the middle-income taxpayer bigger exemptions.

Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., said he planned to propose tax relief for the middle-class wage earner by suggesting that the $600 per dependent exemption be raised to $1,000 over a five-year period.

In the first year of Boggs' plan, the Treasury would suffer

Apollo Trio In Fine Fettle; Recalling Historic Doings

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—America's Apollo 11 explorers were reported in good health today—one week after they left the moon—and scientists began a study of their lunar soil samples to look for traces of extraterrestrial life. (See stories and photos, pages 3 and 6.)

Neil A. Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin E. Aldrin, feeling chipper after a breakfast of eggs, bacon and grits, plunged into a second day of recounting for the record books the moon orbiting portion of their epic mission.

"All personnel appear in good health," said space agency spokesman John McLeaish, one of the 17 men living in the astronauts' quarantine facility.

From the first week of results from the flight of Apollo 11 mission, scientists said:

At least one of the dusty black rocks Armstrong and Aldrin brought back from their two-hour walk on the lunar surface was igneous—formed by hot liquid or putty-like material which later cooled.

Several sizeable tremors have been recorded on the moon's surface since the astronauts set out a little moonquake meter during their walk, including 14 in the last two days which are believed to have been moonslides, and one believed to have been a five minute moonquake, proving the moon is not dead.

TAPED MEMORIES

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins spent more than six hours yesterday taping their recollections of their journey, covering the flight equipment and the trip from the earth to the moon in two sessions. They resumed today with the actual landing, moonwalk and their return to earth still to be covered.

They were visited yesterday by their families who talked to them through a window. After a dinner break and a final debriefing session, Armstrong and Collins played a game of ping pong and Aldrin watched a movie before retiring.

Dr. William Carpentier, the physician who accompanied them to Houston after their Pacific Ocean splashdown, said all three men were in excellent condition and had received no medication of any type since returning to earth.

TOUCHED BY DUST

Carpentier also disclosed that the three astronauts, space engineer John Hirasaki and himself had all come into direct contact with powdery-like lunar surface material with no ill effects.

Technicians worked round the clock on the lunar rocks and soil, which were flown to the space center from the recovery carrier Hornet last week.

Core tubes from the lunar surface were sent to a biological laboratory where germ-free mice and other living organisms will be exposed to them to check for possible lethal or harmful moon germs.

The reception they got at nearby Ellington Air Force Base early yesterday had Aldrin misty-eyed and his fellow astronauts grateful and touched.

"In coming out and welcoming us you really honor yourselves," Armstrong told the crowd through the trailer's public-address system, looking out through the thick glass at his wife, children, and thousands of the people who built and helped guide his spacecraft.

"It was most of you out there who, over the past decade, by meticulous and painstaking work, put together five Apollo flights in a row, each contributing to the success that we enjoyed this past week," he said.

Aldrin said the historic moon landing mission meant that "Americans can stand taller than they ever have, and all of you who put in so much work so that all of us could pull this one off can be very proud."

The crowd of 6,500 who came out in the middle of the night was the largest ever to greet returning astronauts at Ellington.

Nixon Reassures Asia On Security

'Nuclear Umbrella' Promised

BANGKOK (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon's visit to Thailand got off to an uneasy start today with two security scares after a rain-soaked arrival.

One man threw what appeared to be an empty bottle at Nixon and King Bhumibol. Police arrested him and said he was mentally ditsurbed, with a previous record.

Another man was arrested nearby with a pistol in his belt. But he turned out to be an army officer on leave from southern Thailand, and was released.

The bottle thrower was about 50 yards from Nixon and the king as they arrived at the Phanfa Pavilion in downtown Bangkok for the President to receive the keys to the city. Neither Nixon nor the king seemed aware of the incident.

NOT CONCERNED

Nixon showed no sign of concern as he went through the ceremonies and extended to Thailand reassurance tbout his recent accent on self-help as a necessity for Asian states.

"The United States will stand proudly with Thailand against those who might threaten from abroad or within," Nixon told his hosts.

The airport was tightly guarded but festive despite the weather, with hundreds of schoolchildren on hand from the American community along with the leaders of Thailand's military government.

NO TALKING BIG

The U.S. chief executive told newsmen on his plane that he plans to make no new U.S. commitments during his tour of Asia and does not believe in talking big. But he said the United States clearly is involved when one talks about nuclear matters.

While declining to state specifically that nonaligned Indonesia would be covered by an American "nuclear umbrella" should Red China attack it with such weapons, he stated that certain facts of international life are self-evident.

During his three days in Bangkok, Nixon will talk with Ellsworth Bunker, the U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of U.S. forces in

Laird Defends U.S. Bug War Stockpile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today the United States must maintain stock of chemical and biological warfare agents as a deterrent against that type of attack by other nations against this country.

"That deterrent is important if we want to see that these gases .. are never used in our time," the defense chief said.

The comment came as Laird discussed the wisdom of maintaining a chemical and biological warfare (CBW) capability during a meeting with about 75 college students who are working as interns in the federal government.

One student noted the Defense Department has recently had encountered considerable controversy over CBW agents in such incidents as the accidental release of toxic gas from a weapon in Okinawa. He asked whether there might be a major policy change in this whole area.

"I would like to say we could do away with research and development in this area but I cannot say that," Laird responded. "It wouldn't be fair to the American people and our allies if we were to just do away with this program."

HEAVY VIET LOSSES

Cong Down 'Copter; Ninth B52 Crashes

SAIGON (AP) — The United States suffered heavy aircraft losses in the Vietnam War yesterday. The Viet Cong shot down a big helicopter that was evacuating a wounded U.S. Marine and a wounded prisoner from a battlefield yesterday, and a big B52 bomber crashed as it took off from Guam to bomb Vietnam.

All 10 men aboard the CH46 helicopter—nine Americans and the prisoner—were killed when it crashed in the Que Son mountains 25 miles southwest of Da Nang after machine-gun fire hit it.

The six-man crew of the B52 and two others aboard were declared missing after the big bomber crashed and burned at the end of a runway at Andersen Air Force Base. It was taking off for Vietnam with a full load of bombs.

In the ground war, the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported scattered clashes in which 105 enemy troops were killed and at least 12 enemy shellings, during the night, but the general lull in enemy-initiated actions continued in its sixth week.

Witnesses to the B52 crash said they heard no explosion before the plane went down but that flames from the burning bomber could be seen for miles. A spokesman for the Strategic Air Command said the crew was from Pease Air Force Base, in New Hampshire, and was on temporary duty with the 4133rd Bomb Wing.

The helicopter was the 2,879th reported lost during the war. The B52 was the ninth of America's biggest bombers to become a casualty since they entered the war in 1965. All nine were lost in airborne collisions or in landing or takeoff accidents.

More than 750 men of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division were packing to leave Wednesday by plane for Hawaii in the continuing withdrawal of American troops. This group is the 4th Battalion, 39th Infantry Regiment, commanded by Maj. Ronald W. Crooks of Albany, (Alameda County.)

The battalion arrived in South Vietnam Jan. 3, 1967, and has logged the most miles of any 9th Division unit.

In Saigon, Huynh Van Trong, a special assistant to President Nguyen Van Thieu, was asked to appear at national police headquarters for questioning about contacts with Communists, a government spokesman reported.

Trong reportedly deals in intelligence matters. Others informants said he was questioned Saturday for several hours and released, but that he is being kept under surveillance.

Woman Plans To Sue Sausalito Over Anti-ABM Leaflet Arrest

A former San Rafael school teacher who claims she was treated "like a common criminal" by Sausalito police when she was arrested Saturday for passing out pamphlets without a permit said today she will sue the city for false arrest.

Frances Steadman, 49, of 100 Edison Avenue, Corte Madera also said her attorney, Carl Shapiro of San Anselmo, will attack the constitutionality of the ordinance which requires a permit to pass out certain literature.

She was arrested Saturday after ignoring an order from Police Officer Stephen Willis to quit handing out leaflets opposing the proposed antiballistic missile system.

"I was treated like a common criminal, which I suppose is the way they (Sausalito police) treat everybody," Mrs. Steadman said today. She said she was dragged to a patrol car and her hands were "handcuffed behind my back so tightly I still had marks several hours later" for the trip from downtown Sausalito to the Marin County Jail.

She was released on her own recognizance and ordered to appear for arraignment in Marin Municipal Coutr tomorrow.

Sausalito Police Capt. David Malkin said Mrs. Steadman was not mistreated. He said it was department policy to handcuff all prisoners "for the safety of the officer and of the arrested person."

Mrs. Steadman was with oth-

Kennedy Watchers Chant 'We're With You, Ted' Outside Church

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—Cries of "We're with you, Ted," greeted Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as he entered St. Xavier Church here, his third public appearance since the fatal accident last weekend which caused the drowning of pretty blonde secretary Miss Mary Jo Kopechne.

Kennedy, accompanied by his pregnant wife, Joan, and two of his three children sat motionless in his pew yesterday as Msgr. William Thomson read from the Epistle of St. Paul:

"No test has been sent you that does not come to all men. Moreover, God keeps his promise. He will not let you be tested beyond your strength. He will give you with the test a way of emerging from it successfully, and you may be able to endure it."

The Massachusetts Democrat was mobbed and applauded as he entered and emerged from the white clapboard church while thousands of telegrams continued to flood the Kennedy compound urging him not to resign.

Rene Page of Marshfield, a regional supervisor of the Western Union Telegraph Co. office in Hyannis, said yesterday somewhere between 25,000 and 30,000 telegrams had been delivered to the compound since Saturday morning, a figure he described as comparable to the number last summer urging Kennedy to seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

A Kennedy aide said on Saturday the messages were running 100 to 1 in Kennedy's favor and the senator "obviously was moved" by the "overwhelming" favorable re-

TOWN FEAR-STRICKEN

Seventh Co-Ed Found Slain In Michigan

By KARL MANYLA

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Stymied authorities today hunted the strangler of an 18-year-old co-ed whose beaten, nude body was found in the area where six other young women have been slain.

"All I know is I've got seven unsolved murders," said Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey of Washtenaw County.

'MANY SIMULARITIES'

He said the killing of Karen Sue Beineman, a freshman at Eastern Michigan University, bore "many similarities" to six other slayings in Ypsilanti and the neighboring college town of Ann Arbor within the past two years.

But authorities reported "no hot leads" toward the killer—or killers.

Dr. Robert C. Hendrix, rated the foremost pathologist in the area, was called back from a northern Michigan trip yesterday to examine the body of Miss Beineman.

He reported that the pretty brown-haired girl was strangled and beaten "sometime Wednesday."

He said a full autopsy would be conducted later to determine whether she had been sexually assaulted and to establish a more precise time of death.

Prosecutor William F. Delhey of Washtenaw County said the slaying of Miss Beineman "would appear to be sexually motivated."

A man and wife walking from their home to their mailbox Saturday evening found Miss Beineman's body lying face down in a wooded ravine just off a small rirt road at the north eastern outskirts of Ann Arbor. Harvey said she apparently had been thrown or dumped from a car.

RODE ON CYCLE

She last was reported seen Wednesday afternoon. Two clerks in a wig shop said she bought a wig and left on a motorcycle with a young man wearing a green and yellow striped T-shirt.

A sketch of the young man closely resembled a composite drawing made in 1968 of one of three youths in a red car, with whom another co-ed accepted a ride before being killed.

Bodies of all the victims were found within a 10-mile radius, and most had been sexually molested. Two of the other victims —were stabbed to death, two were shot, one was strangled, and one died of a skull fracture.

EARRINGS LINK

Another bizarre similarity among the slayings was revealed by Harvey, who said that at least five of the victims had pierced ears, and at least one earring was missing when each of the girls was found.

Authorities said the gold, snowflake-type earrings worn by Miss Beineman when she was last seen were not on her body. Harvey declined to say whether the earrings were near the body, although he said "a few articles" were nearby.

The latest killing struck new fear into university co-eds and townspeople.

EMU officials said they were considering placing stringent restrictions on the 540 girls living in dormitories this summer.

Curt Stadtfelt, EMU director of information, said, "We are probably going to institute a policy whereby all girls will sign in and out of the halls."

Three of the seven victims were EMU students. Two others were students at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The killing of an eighth young woman in Ann Arbor earlier this month is believed unrelated to the others. Police have charged a 28-year-old Ann Arbor laborer with killing her.

Brass Blamed For Pueblo

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A House armed services subcommittee has unanimously approved a report which puts much of the blame for loss of the USS Pueblo not on the crew but on military brass, it was learned today.

The special investigating subcommittee reached its verdict after a four-month study of the events before, during and after capture of the American intelligence ship by North Korean patrol boats and aircraft on Jan. 23, 1968.

The Navy board, composed of officers, recommended that the Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, and other members of the crew be court martialed on charges of allowing their ship to fall into the hands of the Communists.

Navy Secretary John H. Chafee on May 6 of this year overruled that recommendation.

The congressional panel headed by Reps. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., did not take testimony from the crew. Instead, it concentrated on what the military calls the "command and cotnrol" aspects of the case. It zeroed in on the top commanders.

Subcommittee members reportedly were unhappy over the routine way in which the mission was accorded a "minimal risk" classification.

Ships Leave Cuba

HAVANA (AP) —A seven-ship Soviet naval task force left Cuba yesterday after a week-long visit during which sailors spent half a day harvesting sugar cane.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro led Soviet Rear Adm. Stepan Sokolan and 700 Russian sailors into the sugar cane fields of central Matanzas province Saturday, the 16th anniversary of Castro's revolutionary movement.

Because of the intense heat, Castro stopped the sailors after half a day of chopping. He told them it was the thought that counted, not their production. Sokolan said cutting cane was "very hard work."

Man Killed In Clash

MADERA (AP) — One man was killed in what police called a series of racial clashes last night.

Police said Chon Holquin, 21, of Madera, died after he was hit in the chest above the heart by a bullet fired from a car containing Negro youths at a local drive-in restaurant.

Police said the incidents between Negroes and Mexican-Americans apparently grew out of a fight on the city's south side.

No arrests had been made in the Holquin shooting.

Pier Drownings

SAN PEDRO (AP) — Two 25-year-old women drowned when their car backed off a Los Angeles Harbor pier, police said.

Dead are Peggy J. O'Brien of San Pedro and Brenda Roach of Long Beach. Police said the women drove onto the pier yesterday and asked to see a tuna boat captain. When he couldn't be located they got into Mrs. O'Brien's car with Mrs. Roach driving.

Officers said Mrs. Roach apparently didn't realize the vehicle was in reverse.

Contract Rejected

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Striking sheet metal workers have rejected a new three-year contract ratified by management and union leaders.

The contract would have ended their month-long strike and given them pay raises of $2.58 a hour over three years. The contract was turned down Saturday.

The sheet metal workers struck July 1 asking for an immediate $2.40 hourly increase and 17 cent boost in fringe benefit.

Two More Hijacks

MIAMI (AP) — The 1969 tally of aircraft forced to Cuba rose to 36 with a pair of weekend hijackings.

A Continental Airlines DC9 completed the round-trip to Havana yesterday after a young man armed with a knife seized control on a flight over Texas.

It was preceded to Havana by a Mexican Airlines DC6 with 32 persons aboard. Passengers said a man armed with a pistol forced a stewardess into the cockpit while the plane was on a domestic flight in Mexico.

The Continental hijacker allowed Capt. R. E. Green to make a scheduled landing at Midland, Tex., and take on fuel. He also permitted 53 passengers and three stewardesses to leave the plane, keeping only Green and the copilot aboard.

Driver Booked On Gun Charge

A 22-year-old Vallejo man was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of carrying a concealed weapon Saturday night after he was stopped for speeding on Highway 101.

Michael Joel Marcos was free on $625 bail pending an appearance in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

Sacramento State Rejects 1,125 Applicants

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sacramento State College this week will notify 1,125 applicants, including 900 junior college transfers and 225 new freshmen, that they will not be admitted in September.

Duane L. Anderson, director of admissions and records, said the turned-away students all filed their applications and $10 fees before the April 1 deadline.

"I'd hate to think how many applications we could have taken if we stayed open after April 1," he said.

At the University of California at Davis, Asst. Chancellor Robert W. Glock said 500 students who applied before the March 1 deadline were referred to the university's Riverside campus.

He said until this year students had been allowed to apply as late as August, and in a few cases until September.

At Davis undergraduate enrollment will number 8,800 this fall, while Sacramento State enrollment will be about 14,500.

Shirley Temple For Space Goals

ATHERTON (UPI)—Shirley Temple Black, recently appointed to a presidential task force on space goals, thinks man should continue his adventures in outer space.

"After the magnificent job done on the moon landing, it's quite apparent man will want to continue to explore space," the former child movie star said yesterday.

Mrs. Black and the rest of the committee will submit a report on what the nation should do next in space research. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew heads the committee.

Bus Falls In River

SEOUL (UPI) — A bus plunged down a 40-foot bank and tumbled into the rain-swollen North Han River 30 miles east of Seoul, killing 12 persons, police said today. Thirty-seven other passengers were injured and another was missing in yesterday's accident.

SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR AWAY

Smiles and warm glances were in abundance when the wives of the Apollo 11 astronauts came face to face with their husbands through a sealed window yesterday at the Space Center in Houston. Their gazes criss-crossing, the six are, left to right, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Eldrin and Michael Collins, and wives Pat Collins, Jean Armstrong and Joan Aldrin. (See story page 1). U.N. Censures Portugese Raid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council adopted a strong censure resolution today charging Portugal with an air attack on a Zambian village June 30 that took two lives.

Portugal denied the charge.

The vote on an African-Asian sponsored resolution was 11 to 0, with four abstentions—the United States, Britain, France and Spain.

Those four countries said that while they opposed any colonial moves by Portugal in Africa, they believed the specific incident should have been investigated by on-the-spot observers.

Motorcyclist Injured In Truck Accident

A Petaluma motorcyclist was injured at 12:30 a.m. today when he collided with a truck at the intersection of I and Sixth streets Petaluma.

Stephen Tomasini, 20, of 620 Sunnyslope Avenue, said he would see a private physician for an injury to his left foot. Police said he collided with a truck driven by Dennis Henning, 21, of Fallon.

Motor trucks make up 15 per cent of the vehicles registered in California.

Congressmen Competing To Honor Astronaut Feat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Apollo 11 moon travelers may have their feet back on the ground but it looks as if it will be a long time before Congress gets out of orbit.

Having showed up nearly 300 strong at Cape Kennedy to help launch the moon mission, the senators and representatives are now busy launching bills and resolutions commemorating the event.

Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., was the first to propose that July 20, the day Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin stepped on the moon, be declared a national holiday to be called Lunar Landing Day.

That name could lead to the only controversy over the legislation. For other bills now have been introduced saying it should be called Moon Day, National Man in Space Day, Space Exploration Day, and Manned Lunar Landing Day.

Rep. Robert Price, R-Tex., thinks one day is not enough to honor the astronauts and their achievement. His bill would make the third week in July National Man in Space Week.

Rep. Romand C. Pucinski, D-Ill., has called for the establishment of a Moon Landing Commission to plan and erect a monument to the event in Washington.

The only critical note has been sounded by Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C. "I have not seen enough credit assigned to the help of Almighty God in getting these men onto the moon," said Rivers. "Somebody has overlooked that.

"Without the order of the heavens and the order of the firmament and all the celestial bodies, we would not have gained the information to have accomplished this feat."

Congressional rejoicing should reach its peak at a joint session of the House and Senate at which the three astronauts will appear after Congress returns from its August vacation.

New Post For Chief Of Police

Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia today was appointed representative for area 2 of the California Police Chief's Association by its president, William J. Mooney, chief of Long Beach police.

Area 2 takes in all of the Bay Area counties, Di Grazia said.

His job will be that of information officer, keeping other police chiefs up to date on new developments in police work, he said.

Torn Gloves May Delay Lunar Study

COMBINED AP & UPI

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Torn gloves used to manipulate moon rocks in a vacuum chamber caused some concern today as scientists began testing a precious bit of soil dug from beneath the lunar surface to determine if it contains biologically-harmful material. See photo, page 6.)

While removing rocks from the first of two boxes the Apollo 11 astronauts returned from the moon, the outer layer of the glove- ports have been ripped several times.

If they should tear through all three layers, outside air could leak in and degrade the vacuum in the chamber.

"We are concerned with the state of the gloves," reported Bryan Erb, assistant manager of the lunar receiving laboratory. "Precisely what we do to repair or replace the gloves is being determined now."

Erb said it would take about 60 hours to move the rocks to another chamber, remove the vacuum, replace the gloves and recreate the vacuum. This would delay processing of the rocks and soil samples.

The first piece of the moon studied in detail has been identified as an igneous rock peppered with glass-lined pits—an "exciting" find which may help resolve some lunar mysteries.

An igneous rock is one formed by the cooling and solidification of a hot liquid or putty-like material, and the glassy pits may have resulted from the high speed impact of tiny meteoroids while the rock lay exposed on the moon's surface.

Probes To Scan Mars For Signs Of Life

PASADENA (AP) — Scientists expect to begin receiving tomorrow night their best data ever on a centuries-old puzzle: Does life exist on Mars?

Mariner 6, one of two spacecraft zooming toward the mysterious red planet after a five-month journey, is to begin taking television pictures at 1:26 a.m. tomorrow while 771,500 miles away from Mars. More pictures will be taken every 37 minutes over the next 19 hours, and then all 33 far-encounter pictures will be played back to earth starting at 9:35 p.m. EDT tomorrow. The playback will take two hours 52 minutes.

Mars is nearly 50 million miles from earth.

By the time Mariner 6 flies within 2,000 miles of Mars on Wednesday, scientists hope it will have sent up to 74 pictures, some detailed enough to pick out possible ruins, canals or geometric patterns.

Mariner 7, racing along a more equatorial Mars route, is to take the first of its 114 pictures Friday from 1.14 million miles away and make a 2,000-mile pass on Monday night, Aug. 4.

The closest pictures will show features as small as 900 feet across.

Photos taken on the Mariner 4 flight in 1965 showed a bleak, crater-pocked surface resembling that of the moon. No mountain chains, ocean basins or continents appeared.

The cameras and scientific instruments on Mariners 6 and 7 are intended to measure temperatures, pressures and atmospheric densities, and seek details of the planet's polar caps, clouds, canal-like lines and other surface features.

Scientists believe that the Martian polar caps that retreat in the warm seasons are frozen carbon dioxide, much colder than frozen water.

The Mariner pictures will be taken as the planet's southern hemisphere begins its spring season. Scientists hope to be able to determine whether the spring and summer darkening areas are vegetation, some form of algae, or only rocks that change color.

They also hope to determine whether there is volcanic and quake activity.

The two space vehicles are to end their playbacks to earth by about Aug. 17 and will then go into orbit around the sun.

Four Hurt In Highway Accidents

Four persons were injured in three accidents yesterday, all on Highway 101, the California Highway Patrol said today.

James Louis Mainini, 19, of 215 Bayview Street, Apt. 118, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruised hands after his car swerved into a chain link fence in the 300 block of Summit Avenue.

The California Highway Patrol said Mainini swerved to avoid colliding with another car which was in the wrong lane. The mishap occurred at 10:45 p.m. yesterday.

Anthony Hogh, 57, of Santa Rosa, was treated for a cut tongue at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma after his car was hit in the rear by another three miles north of Novato.

The highway patrol said a car driven by Victor Albert Rea, 45, of San Francisco, rammed Hogh's car after he slowed down for traffic in front of him.Ruth Bridges, 45, of Belmont, a passenger in Rea's car, complained of a head pain after the accident and was to see her own physician, the patrol said. The accident occurred at 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

The third accident, at 7:15 p.m. yesterday, was near the Terra Linda exit, the patrol said. A car driven by Sidney Alexander Robbins, 63, of 306 Laurel Way, Mill Valley, hit the rear of one driven by John Thomas McIntosh, 32, of Milpitas.

McIntosh's car was stopped for traffic, the patrol said. He complained of a pain in his neck but did not go to a hospital.

Mysterious Human Remains Found In Coffin

A foot-long coffin found Friday on a Fort Baker beach was said today to contain human remains, but the origin of the small crematorium container is still a mystery.

Marin County Coroner Keith C. Craig said he has written to state archivists in the hunt for a death certificate in connection with an inscription found on the lid.

It reads, "Francis G. McClaughry, 1910-1943."

The metal box was found Friday by a Mill Valley man, Michael R. Tauer of 396 Pinehill Road. Tauer filed a report that he pried open the box with a screwdriver and found what he said looked like "human remains."

The coroner's office said there is no official record that a Francis McClaughry ever died in Marin County.

sponse to his televised plea for advice.

Speculation mounted as to when Kennedy would return to Washington since the Senate was expected to vote later this week on the Safeguard antiballistic missile system to which Kennedy is opposed. But the aide said the senator "had no immediate plans for the future."

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin said yesterday Kennedy's driver's license has been suspended for one year because of his guilty plea Friday to the charge of leaving the scene of a motor vehicle accident.

McLaughlin explained the one-year suspension was mandatory under state law because of the guilty plea.

Summer Cabins Burglarized

Two summer cabins and a Santa Venetia home were hits in weekend burglaries in Marin, the sheriff's department said today.

A $300 stereo set was stolen from the A. L. Fleming home at 57 San Pablo Avenue after burglars ransacked three rooms.

Irving P. Thompson, owner of a Forest Knolls summer cabin on Tamal Road, reported that someone cut the screen on a rear window and made off with a .40-caliber muzzle-loading antique rifle.

An electrical handsaw was stolen from a Lagunitas summer cabin owned by Louis Pardini of San Francisco.

Records Stolen

Gary M. Bloom of 303 Forrest Avenue, Fairfax, reported Friday 110 record albums worth $300 had been stolen from his home Thursday, police said today.

NIXON

Vietnam, as well as with Thai officials.

At a news conference on Guam Friday, Nixon indicated that the conferences with Bunker and Abrams would influence his thinking on further U.S. troop withdrawals and his assessment of the current lull in fighting. But he said he would announce no further withdrawals before returning to Washington on Aug. 3.

In the interval he will visit India, Pakistan, Romania and Britain.

Just 12 hours before the President's arrival, a band of terrorists in northeast Thailand broke into the big U.S. air base at Ubon, slightly wounded an American airman, damaged two parked C47 transports and a mobile radar unit, and escaped. Nixon has been reported planning a visit to one of the six U.S. air bases in Thailand, but Ubon was not a likely choice because it is 300 miles northeast of Bangkok and in the area of the country most threatened by Communist guerrillas.

Nixon, the first American president to visit Indonesia, told Suharto the United States wants to share in promoting his country's economic development. He said: "To the extent that we and other nations . . . can be of assistance, we want to play our fair part."

The importance attached to economic development was underscored by a special conference involving key advisers of Nixon and Suharto who discussed the five-year economic plan that Indonesia is just starting.

"We hope you can do it in four," Nixon told the Indonesians.

The United States has pledged about $125 million in economic aid this year, plus food assistance.

Nixon received a lukewarm welcome from the Indonesian public and the brevity of his stopover raised eyebrows. Some officials said privately they would have felt happier if the visit had not been "so apparently casual, as though he decided to stop just because he was Rezoning requests by Robert C. McGuire for 2326 Mar East Street and by Victor C. Banks for 2344 Mar East Street will also be heard.

Nolo Contendre Plea In Ax Case

Lorraine M. Brocco, wife of former Larkspur councilman Henry Brocco, pleaded nolo contendere (no defense) today in Marin Superior Court to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against her husband.

The plea has the weight of a guilty plea in the criminal case, but cannot be considered an admission of guilt in any related civil case.

Mrs. Brocco's attorney said Brocco may sue her for damages in the case. She was arrested Oct. 27 after Brocco was attacked with a hatchet while asleep at the family's Greenbrae home.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Sept. 22. Mrs. Brocco, who now lives in Sacramento, was released on her own recognizance.

Youngsters From Marin Garner Many Medals

For 44 mentally retarded Marin youngsters, last weekend was action packed and memorable.

It began Friday morning with a ride to San Francisco International Airport in a double-deck, London bus from the Wilshire Towers Motel in San Rafael. There was a plane ride to Los Angeles and then arrival at dormitories on the campus of the University of Southern California to unpack.

The occasion for the 30 boys and 14 girls was the 1969 Special Olympics held Saturday at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. They competed in six swimming, running, jumping and throwing events with 1,036 others their age from seven western states.

They bought back to Marin 27 medals for first, second and third place finishes.

They visited Disneyland yesterday.

Sponsors of the Marin group, were Marin Aid to Retarded Children, the Cedars Development Foundation and Recreation for the Handicapped.

Western Demos Oppose ABM

DENVER (UPI)—Forty-seven Democratic legislators from 10 western states yesterday announced their opposition to President Nixon's proposed Anti-Ballistic Missile (ABM) system and called for an "immediate reappraisal of national goals and a reordering of national priorities."

The opposition was contained in a statement signed by several participants at a Western states conference of the New Democratic Coalition.

Among those signing was Jesse Unruh, minority leader of the California House of Representatives.

er members of the Women's International League of Peace and Freedom when she was arrested. Carol Shattuck, of San Anselmo, publicity chairman for the league, said today the American Civil Liberties Union might also enter the case on Mrs. Steadman's behalf.

Mrs. Steadman said today she did not know when Shapiro would file suit, but she indicated the constitutionality of the ordinance would be the focus of the suit.

"It's unconstitutional and their city attorney (Leland H. Jordan) knows it even if the chief of police doesn't," Mrs. Steadman said.

Jordan was not available for comment.

Sausalito City Mgr. George M. Patterson said the ordinance, passed in 1950, does not apply to distributing political and religious pamphlets.

Patterson said he did not know whether the current nationwide ABM debate legally would be considered political. "In one way it might seem to be," he said. "Yet on the other hand, if you get down to what is political and what isn't, I don't think from a legal standpoint — and this is just a guess — that because something is controversial and will be going before a legislative body . . . I'm not sure that that in itself would make it political."

Mrs. Steadman taught at the Sun Valley elementary school in San Rafael in 1966 and 1967 and currently is on the substitute teacher list with the Marin County schools office.

Murder Suspect Arraigned

Ronald Rivas, 20, charged with murdering his father July 17 at their Novato home, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court today and asked for dismissal of the charge.

Rivas's attorney Robert D. Carrow, moved to dismiss a grand jury indictment, returned in the case last week, on grounds it had no authority to act because Rivas had already been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court.

Carrow also challenged the jury's jurisdiction because of its composition and the method of appointing the jury, asked that the case be returned to municipal court for a preliminary hearing, and asked the indictment be dismissed fori nsufficient evidence.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set arguments on the motions at 2 p.m. Aug. 11.

Carrow said the grand jury proceeding denied Rivas the opportunity to confront his accusers or cross-examine witnesses.

Fire Threat To Novato Denied By Chief Kidder

Seven grass fires that circled the Novato area early Saturday seem to be the work of pranksters, not a deliberate attempt to "burn down Novato," Fire Chief Jack Kidder said today, refuting newspaper and radio reports yesterday that the city had been deliberately menaced.

Kidder said most of the fires were started by throwing highway flares from a car and were confined to spot fires beside the road. None were set where buildings would be endangered, he added.

Kidder said the scattered fires burned a total of a little more than half an acre out of the 75 square miles in the district.

It is not the first time the Novato area has had a series of fires set by pranksters, he added.

Novato police and sheriff's deputies are investigating.

Two Arraigned On Drug Charges

Paul Stanton Gladman, 22, of Stinson Beach, and Robert Leighton Leoni, 23, of Bolinas, were arraigned today in Marin Superior Court on narcotics and marijuana charges resulting from a $5,000 pot raid on a Stinson Beach motel Dec. 15.

Gladman is charged with selling marijuana and offering to sell LSD. Leoni is charged with possessing marijuana for sale and transporting marijuana.

Both were released on their own recognizance to appear Sept. 8 to enter pleas. Their attorneys said they had not left the area while awaiting trial on federal charges from the raid, although no cash bond was posted. The federal charges have been dismissed, the attorneys said.

Teen Boys Held As Suspects In 3 Burglaries

Two San Rafael youths were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall Saturday on suspicion of committing three burglaries recently in the Southern Heights area.

Booked were Jack Martin Krusmagi, 15, of 229 Southern Heights Boulevard and Earl Milton Kerr, 14, of 15 Octavia Street.

Police questioned the boys after two witnesses reported seeing them in the area of one of the burglaries.

A diamond engagement ring valued at $500, a $500 gold ring and a $140 tape recorder were taken Thursday from the home of Karen Jacobsen of 196 Southern Heights Boulevard.

Miscellaneous items valued at $132 were reported stolen Friday from the home of Klaus Guttan of 136 Southern Heights Boulevard and a radio and money totaling $40 were stolen Friday from the home of Laverne Wegkamp of 93 Southern Heights Boulevard.

Police said some of the stolen items were recovered.

Rights Chief Blasts Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The executive director of the National Urban League today accused the Nixon administration of "moving backwards to an age of indifference and repression" on human rights.

Citing a long list of recent federal actions in the urban affairs area, Whitney M. Young Jr. asked whether they weren't "a step backward to the time when racial concentration camps were established for Japanese Americans during World War II."

"The administration . . . encourages the whole mood of backlash that is leading to elections of unqualified candidates who campaign under the tattered banner of 'law and order,' using subtle appeals to racism," he said in a keynote speech prepared for the League's 59th annual conference here.

Young's speech came as several Negro congressmen claimed Nixon has abdicated his responsibilities to the nation's minorities. "Nothing short of individual concern can prevent total repression of minorities," said Rep. William Clay, D-Mo.

Guilty Pleas To Burglary Counts

Three men accused of being part of a burglary ring pleaded guilty today in Marin Superior Court to a series of charges.

Andrew M. Gilleespie III, 19, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty to burglaries on Feb. 21 and April 4 and to stealing a car June 4, 1968. Two other burlgary charges were dismissed.

Gordon K. Jennings, 21, of Novato pladed guilty to burglaries Feb. 21 and March 3, and to receiving stolen property March 24. A charge of burglary March 24 was dismissed.

Edward Guillory, 20, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property Feb. 21, and a charge of burglary on that date was dismissed.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Nov. 17 for Gillespie and Sept. 15 for Jennings and Guillory.

MIDEAST BARRAGE KILLS U.N. AIDE

Both Egypt, Israel Stage Air Raids, Artillery Duels; U.N. Studies Pullout

COMBINED AP & UPI

Israeli artillery fire was blamed today for the death of the first U.N. observer killed in the Suez Canal fighting.

The observer, Swedish Maj. Bo Plane, 37, was killed yesterday during a heavy artillery duel between Israeli and Egyptian forces near Port Suez, at the southern end of the canal.

Plane was one of 47 observers on the Egyptian side, and it was assumed hat an Israeli shell killed him.

A U.N. spokesman said Secretary General U Thant viewed the observer's death "very seriously" but had not decided yet whether to recommend withdrawal of the 91 other observers, stationed at eight posts on each side of the 103-mile waterway.

Thant said three weeks ago that the observers had become "defenseless targets in a shooting gallery." He said that if fighting continued along the canal he might be forced to withdraw them.

Egypt meanwhile flexed its renewed air might by striking yesterday at Israeli positions near the northern end of the canal. It was the first time since the 1967 war that the Egyptian planes struck first, instead of responding to Israeli attack as they did twice last week. This time, the Israelis admitted that their planes did not challenge the raiders.

Israeli warplanes struck Egyptian artillery positions on the west bank of the Suez Canal today for the sixth time in nine days and Cairo reports said Israel had moved a large number of planes into the occupied Sinai Desert, showing up on United Arab Republic radar.

Israeli jets also attacked a Jordanian military post early today in a raid that Jordan said killed three of its troops and wounded a dozen others.

But the main attack was directed against Egypt after a 24-hour Egyptian artillery bombardment of Israeli positions in which two Israeli soldiers were wounded, a Tel Aviv spokesman said. He reported all Israeli planes returned safely from the 45-minute bombing and strafing attack.

Anti-ABM Movement Gains Force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opponents of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system boasted a new member in their ranks today as the Senate resumed its three-week-old debate on a military procurement bill providing funds for ABM deployment.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., who had been one of a handful of uncommitted lawmakers, announced during the weekend that he would vote to bar deployment for at least a year.

His announcement bolstered the anti-ABM campaign in the Senate and opened the way for a no-compromise showdown vote on President Richard M. Nixon's Safeguard proposal.

When the vote would come was still completely uncertain since the Senate disarmament subcommittee is slated to begin a new set of hearings Wednesday on communications problems with the ABM.

McIntyre said he had decided to vote for an amendment, sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., that would limit ABM funds to research and development this year.

Copper and Hart said they counted 49 sure votes against the ABM and hoped to pick up at least two or three more supporters. Among those still undecided were Sens. John J. Williams, R-Del., Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash.

Petaluma Teen-Ager Hurt In Car Accident

A Petaluma teen-ager was injured at 11:10 p.m. Saturday in a one car accident on Liberty Road, north of Petaluma.

Steven Stone, 18, of 130 Wilson Street, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for cuts of the chin. The California Highway Patrol said he had been a passenger in a car driven by Richard M. Waring, 17, of 837 B Street, Petaluma. The car ran off the roadway and struck a utility pole.

Sausalito Board To Review School Costs

The Sausalito School District board will discuss its tentative 1969-70 budget at its 7:30 p.m. meeting today in the district's office.

Also on tonight's agenda are reports on the district's breakfast program sponsored by the Black Panthers and on glass breakage at Sausalito schools.

Man Critically Hurt In Fall Off Balcony

Robert J. Elberg, 45, of 201 Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, was reported in critical condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital with a broken leg, broken ribs and fractured vertabrae, following a fall off a Belvedere balcony Saturday morning.

Police said Elberg fell off the balcony at his home at 12:30 a.m., falling approximately 30 feet onto a rock wall in the garden below.

Ex-Marinite Quits Post As South Bay College Chief

Dr. Wallace W. Hall, former Marin County superintendent of schools, has submitted his resignation as superintendent and president of West Valley College in Campbell, Santa Clara County, where he has been since 1963.

The resignation, which apparently came as a surprise to the board of governors, is effective July 31, 1970.

Hall said in his letter of resignation that "although my contact as superintendent of the district does not expire until June 30, 1972 . . . I take this action now rather than complete my full contract so that I may give consideration, while it is still timely, to a second career in the productive years which still lie ahead."

He declined to say what the second career would be.

Hall, a former resident of Belvedere, was elected Marin County superintendent of schools in 1951 and left in 1958 to become associate superintendent of schools and chief of the division of public school administration in the State Department of Education in Sacramento.

He became associate superintendent of public instruction and chief of the division of higher education in 1961 and was named president of West Valley College in 1913.

Hall holds bachelor of arts and science degrees from Ohio State University and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of California.

U.S. Base In Thailand Raided

BANGKOK (UPI) — Five guerrillas invaded the U.S. air base at Ubon in northeast Thailand today, wounded a GI sentry with gunfire and damaged two C57 planes with explosives prior to President Richard M. Nixon's arrival in Bangkok.

The American embassy announced the attack and described the raiders as "intruders" believed to be Communist guerrillas.

It was the second such attack against U.S. air bases in Thailand since American warplanes were brought in to bomb North Vietnam and support Allied troops in South Vietnam four years ago.

This rock brought back by Apollo 11 from the moon is of igneous origin — meaning it cooled from a molten state, much like earthly basalts or lavas, NASA scientists report. Howard Hughes Rumor Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The president of Air West says there is no truth to rumors that industrialist Howard Hughes is backing out of a proposed deal to purchase the regional airline.

G. Robert Henry said yesterday he had "no indication or information that Hughes Tool Company will not proceed" with the purchase of the financially troubled airline.

The mysterious multi-millionaire agreed a year ago to purchase the airline for $93 million and assume up to $40 million in debt. Last week, however, a spokesman said Hughes was "reviewing" the purchase with particular attention to the continuation of a government subsidy and the present financial status of the carrier.

Probation, Fines For Drunken Driving Pair

Two persons have been placed on one year probation and fined $182 each by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

They are John Wesley Smith Jr., 37, of 2 Granada Drive, Corte Madera, who was arrested last Friday on Highway 101, and Jacqulin Joyce Johnson, 35, of 12B Bonita Street, Sausalito, who was arrested July 14 in Sausalito.

Why do they call them Bachelor's Chests?

Really, these small chests can be used in any room and are the perfect marriage of utility and good looks. They can be had singly or in pairs—what kind of bachelorhood is that?

$119 is all we ask for this perfectly proportioned English block front chest made of solid Honduras mahogany. 28x16x29½. Other models in fruitwood, walnut or pecan.

Baby Food, Soft Drink Makers Defend Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of one of the nation's largest manufacturers of baby food said today no concern need be aroused by the presence of salt, sugar or monosodium glutamate in baby foods, but he called for an independent panel of scientists to study the matter.

R. Burt Gookin, president of the H. J. Heinz Co., told investigating senators previous testimony concerning the potential harm of the three seasoners was misleading.

"Surely it is to be regretted if certain statements should damage the confidence of mothers in the proven nutritional values of the processed baby foods they are now using," Gookin said.

"Millions of healthy babies, children and adults around the world would attest to these positive values," he said.

Gookin's comments came as the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs heard a reply from industry representatives to statements that certain ingredients in their products were potentially harmful to health.

"You have heard conflicting testimony on various nutrients which appear in baby foods," said Daniel F. Gerber, head of the Gerber Products Co.

"We have had a concerned awareness of these charges for many years," Gerber said. "However, we found no evidence and . . . research which would justify changes from our present practices."

Gookin said salt, sugar and monosodium glutamate are added in such small quantities that they could not possibly be considered harmful.

In other testimony, J. Paul Austin, president of the Coca-Cola Co., responded to questions concerning the presence of caffeine and cyclamates—artificial sweeteners—in Coca-Cola products. He said Coca-Cola complies with all applicable labeling laws and added:

"I might mention that coffee, tea and chocolate products contain caffeine at levels substantially higher than that found in Coca-Cola without any requirement to label."

He said cyclamates are on the Food and Drug Administration list of substances considered safe.

"We are aware, of course," he said, "of the current attention being directed to cyclamates. But to date we have seen no confirmed evidence that the substance is unsafe, particularly at present levels."

Tribute For Jazz Giant Hines

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco has paid a unique tribute to one of the giants of jazz.

Pianist Earl "Fatha" Hines, who resides here, was presented a 1904 Steinway in mint condition as a gift.

Hines, now in his 60's said his thanks by the way he knows best—by playing a concert that drew roars from the big crowd at the Saturday night tribute. Inscribed in silver above the keyboard of the piano given to Hines was:

"Presented by jazz lovers from all over the world. This piano is the only one of its kind and expresses the great genius of a man who has never played a melancholy note in his lifetime on a planet that has often succumbed to despair."

PACIFIC SAILOR IN OAKLAND

Ryusuke Ushijima, a young Japanese fisherman from Fukuoka, sailed across 5600 miles of Pacific waters to reach Oakland, his home town's sister city. Ushijima battled three storms and rough seas during his 80-day solo voyage, with only books by Feodor Dostoevski and Ernest Hemingway as companions. He said he reached the shore here three days ago, but had to wait for a "hole in the fog" to find the entrance to San Francisco Bay. (UPI Telephoto)

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Major Issues Block Final Adjournment

By ARTHUR HUTCHINSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Spectres of several major issues containing political repercussions haunted lawmakers who began today what they hoped was a two-week homestretch to the finish line of this session.

The Assembly and Senate still faced crucial votes on such issues as tax reform and rebate, state aid to schools, automobile smog and conservation of San Francisco Bay.

With each passing day it grew more doubtful whether a comprehensive tax reform package would pass this year but the apparently doomed program still sparked intense political infighting.

Assembly Democrats, led by caucus chairman George Zenovich, Fresno, said they won't vote for adjournment unless action is taken on Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax shift program.

Democrats realize they can't stop adjournment. Republicans control the Assembly 41-39 and the Senate 21-19. The Assembly wants to go home Aug. 6, the Senate has voted for Aug. 8.

The Democratic strategy is to pin failure of tax reform on the GOP for ammunition in the 1970 election.

The Assembly is expected to act this week to send a bill for state aid to schools to a joint conference committee—the traditional end-of-session handling of school finaces.

The Senate rejected the Assembly's $200 million package and sent back its own $95 million program. Under the bill, schools could spend up to $120 million, all that Reagan insists he'll approve for added aid to schools.

Also before the lower house are a pair of income tax rebate bills on which the Senate refused to make up its mind. The upper house passed both.

The Senate faces a thorny problem with a watered-down Bay Conservation and Development Commission bill.

It was anticipated an effort would be made on the floor to restore shoreline controls.

The Assembly faces action on a smog control package surprisingly passed by the Senate. It appropriates $50,000 to spur research for an alternate to the internal combusion engine. To spur research further, a second bill bans the sale of diesel and gasoline powered vehicles in California after 1975.

DIVORCE REFORM

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, today predicted easy Senate approval of the first major overhaul of divorce law in California history.

Grunsky and Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, are sponsors of the compromise bill, already approved by the Assembly. They feel it will remove hate and recrimination from the courtroom process of dissolving a marriage. Gov. Ronald Reagan said he favors the bill.

The new law, which would become effective Jan. 1 upon Reagan's signature also is expected to hurt the flourishing "quickie divorce" mills in neighboring Nevada and Mexico.

Reno attorney Howard McKissick, speaker of the Nevada Assembly, said passage of the California divorce reform bill would cut Nevada's lucrative divorce rate "to a dribble."

He said yesterday half the 220 practicing attorneys in Reno are divorce lawyers making $18,000 to $30,000 a year and "many of the older lawyers can't do anything else."

DRUG CONTROLS

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Assemblyman Pete Wilson says he will ask for legislation requiring that American - made drugs sold across the California-Mexico border be bonded like liquor to deter narcotics pushers.

The San Diego Republican made the announcement Saturday while watching about 30 San Diego parents picket at the San Ysidro border crossing for stronger controls on the movement of U.S. drugs.

Narcotics agents told a Congressional hearing here recently that unbonded narcotics can be shipped to bogus drug companies in Mexico, front for narcotics operations.

Wilson gave no details of his plan.

DDT BAN ASKED

LA JOLLA (AP) — Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of antipolio vaccine, and four other scientists at the Salk Institute have sent a telegram to the state Assembly urging passage of a bill banning DDT from California after 1971.

Noting that studies show the pesticide accumulates in man's foods and his tissues, the telegram last week condemned DDT as a threat to the "future of man."

The telegram was signed by Salk, Renato Dulbecco, Edwin Lennox, Malvin Cohn, and Jacob Bronowski.

Prison Escape Artist Bound At County Jail

A 23-year-old Georgia State Prison escapee was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday after a Fairfax resident decided he was acting suspiciously and notified police.

Robert Edward Cobb, of no fixed address, was booked on a hold for Georgia State Police and held without bail.

Authorities said Cobb is apparently an escape artist. He called the county jail a "cracker-box" and boasted yesterday he would escape from it. He was still in custody today.

Fairfax police said a resident reported Cobb was talking of "getting a gun" and "acting suspiciously."

Officers found him playing pool alone in Celoni's Lounge, 19 Broadway, Fairfax, and asked for identification. A record check produced the Georgia hold and officers returned to the bar and arrested him.

Cobb told poilice he had been in Marin about a month, staying with friends. He said he had been employed as an entertainer in several San Geronimo Valley bars but was currently unemployed.

The bobcat is found in eastern North America, from Canada to Mexico.

Life-Termer Hangs Self In Prison

A San Quentin inmate, serving a life term for strangling a man, strangled himself yesterday in his cell.

Charles E. Partin, 31, used blanket strips to hang himself, Associate Warden James W. L. Park reported.

Partin made a dummy and put it in the top bunk, then draped a jacket so the bottom bunk would be hidden from view, Park said. He tied the blanket strips to a brace on the top bunk, Park said.

He was discovered dead at 3:30 a.m. yesterday as officers began the daily 4 a.m. count and spotted the dummy.

Partin was convicted of strangling Prentice E. Gage with a handkerchief in Los Angeles in 1963, Park said. He was assigned to Vacaville and remained there until being brought to San Quentin last April, Park said.

Park reported Partin had attempted to kill himself twice while at Vacaville and had also attempted suicide before he went to prison.

'KIDS ARE FUNNIER'

Marin City Artist Turns To Cartoons

By ALAN JONES

If determination can make the difference, Howard Wallace is a good bet to become successful cartoonist or commercial artist, or maybe both.

Wallace, a 27-year-old bachelor from Marin City, has been painting and drawing since his days at Tamalpais High School a decade ago. Meantime, though, a man has to live, and he is holding a full-time job at American Molded Plastics in Sausalito.

Largely self-taught, Wallace has worked part time and produced paintings which cover the walls of the family living room at 207 Drake Avenue, and has sold or given away many more.

Although he has studied with Paul Luft, Gate 5 artist, and at the San Francisco Art Academy, Wallace is not counting on making a living with fine art. Instead, he is working to make it with commercial art or cartooning.

A few months ago he started a correspondence course in cartooning, and now is turning out a stream of cartoons and submitting them to feature syndicates and newspapers.

He has developed several cartoon characters, most of them children because "kids are funnier than grownups." The central character in several cartoons sent to the Independent-Journal is a boy in ball cap and turtleneck sweater, with a penchant for malicious mischief.

He is working a night shift now, Wallace said, and may re-enroll at the academy next winter when he finishes the correspondence course.

Wallace said he isn't interested in turning out a daily serial cartoon strip, but he does have another project in mind. When he can get a camera and other necessary equipment, he plans to try producing animated cartoons.

Asked about marriage, Wallace said he is "not gonna get my head in that bag." He cited the bachelor's usual reason of freedom of movement, but added that he doesn't have time for marriage now — he's spending all his spare hours with his art work.

School Meeting On Tam Salaries

A negotiating session between teacher representatives and the Tamalpais Union High School District board will be held at 8 p.m. today at the office of the district superintendent in Larkspur.

The board has until July 30 under a resolution passed June 16 to reach a decision on teacher salary proposals.

Discussions were reopened following demands by teachers for more talks on salaries despite a 5 per cent increase approved by the board.

Board representatives who met teacher negotiators during the past several weeks reported on their findings July 21 at a closed session following the regular board meeting. Following their report it was decided to call the Monday session.

Burglars Strikes At Loma Verde House

The theft of an unspecified amount of change and currency was reported to Marin County sheriff's deputies Saturday by George Barish, 421 Via Del Plano, Loma Verde, who told officers someone apparently entered his home through a bedroom window.

Barish told officers the burglary apparently took place Friday night while he and his wife were out visiting friends.

Transatlantic British Rower Sets New Time

BLACKSOD BAY, Ireland (UPI)—"I have just rowed across the Atlantic in 72 days," the man said to the lady. "Can you take me to a telephone?"

"She didn't seem to understand," said Tom "Moby" men his arrival at dawn yesterday on an Irish beach after 72 days of rowing his 20-foot dory 2,500 miles across the Atlantic from St. Johns, Newfoundland.

McClean, 26, a Dublin-born British army commando, became the first man ever to row alone across the Atlantic from west to east.

His time was 20 days faster than that posted in 1966 by the team of Capt. John Ridgeway and Sgt. Chay Blyth, both of whom were once in the same 12-man platoon of the British commandos with McClean.

It also topped the east-to-west transatlantic rowing record of John Fairfax, an Englishman who recently did it in six months.

Korean Spy Battle

SEOUL (AP) — Three North Korean infiltrators and two South Korean soldiers were killed in a gun battle south of the demilitarized zone yesterday, the 16th anniversary of the Korean armistice, the Defense Ministry announced today.

The battle, which continued off and on all day, was the fourth reported along the buffer

Black Studies Department Set At State College

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Twenty-five courses will be taught in the new black studies department beginning operations this fall at San Francisco State College.

The department was one of several demands from students and teachers during four months of violent strikes that began last November. Campus President S. I. Hayakawa authorized the department and chose Dr. Nathan Hare to be chairman of the new unit.

However, Hare's contract wasn't renewed after a clash with Hayakawa. Hare shouted down the college president as Hayakawa welcomed teachers to spring semester classes.

Courses in the degree-granting program — all with the title "black" — include economics, history, poetry, dance, mathematics, music and psychology.

Donald Garrity, vice president for academic affairs, said Saturday in announcing the black studies program that six full-time professors have been hired and two more will be hired before the fall term begins in September. Seven part-time instructors also will be hired.

Guitar, Ring Theft

Burglars took a guitar and ring, valued at $420 from the home of Harold C. Nachtrieb, 19 Lovell Avenue, Mill Valley, between 11:30 a.m. and 5:15 p.m. yesterday, police said.

Police Cite Youths For Drug Suspicion

Two 14-year-old boys were cited to Marin County juvenile authorities on the suspicion of possession of drugs and drug paraphernalia and a 17-year-old reprimanded and releases Saturday by Novato police. All were from San Francisco.

Novato police stopped their car in the 1500 block of Grant Avenue when it made a U turn in the middle of the block at 3:10 p.m. Police found a pipe being smoked that smelled of marijuana. They also found a plastic bag containing green vegetable matter throught to be marijuana and three pink pills. The 17-year-old driver of the car was reprimanded and released.

Any $7,000 car makes you feel secure on a country club driveway. The Mercedes-Benz 280S makes you feel secure on a bustling turnpike.

Look underneath, and you'll begin to see why.

Of all cars in the "luxury class" field, the 280S is rated the safest, most roadworthy. Read why.

At Mercedes-Benz, engineers —not styling geniuses or marketing wizards—have the upper hand.

And these stubborn purists insist that if a man can afford to invest $7,000 in an automobile he is entitled to get more than a status symbol.

Result: the Mercedes-Benz 280S at right bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans in the so-called "fine car" field. It steers, maneuvers and stops as if your life depended on it.

This is one reason why Car and Driver magazine, with a world of cars to choose from, concludes that the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Racing car suspension

For a clue to the almost uncanny handling and evasive ability of the 280S, scrunch down and look beneath the rear bumper—at the axle. It's not the rigid "beam" axle of most domestic cars. It is articulated.

This Mercedes-Benz low-pivot swing axle permits each rear wheel to move up and down independently of the other, just as the front wheels do. The result is leech-like roadability.

If you know what you're looking for, you can also spot heavy-duty thrust arms, individual coil springs and shocks, and a horizontal hydropneumatic load-leveling device.

All in all, suspension ideas more common on 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars than 5-passenger sedans.

Engineering extravagance?

A passenger car doesn't need a suspension fit for a racer, argue some critics. True, reply Mercedes-Benz engineers. For everyday city driving, this is sheer engineering extravagance.

But some day you might have to get off the pavement, onto a stretch of potholed back road. You might have to enter a sharp curve or a turn-off faster than you intended. You might have to change course quickly while cruising at 65 mph on a busy turnpike.

And, suddenly, you realize that this engineering extravagance is no extravagance at all.

Sharp reflexes

Occasionally, it is also necessary for a 3,400-pound automobile hurtling along at high speed to stop abruptly.

Once more, Mercedes-Benz engineers draw on their experience with World Champion racing machinery. They employ the more expensive, but clearly superior, type of brakes used almost universally on today's professional racing circuits.

Disc brakes.

The engineers don't stint, either —by putting disc brakes only at the front wheels, and settling for conventional drum brakes on the rear. They insist on attaching a massive caliper-type disc brake to every wheel of every Mercedes-Benz.

Someday, doubtless, 4-wheel disc brakes will be offered on a domestic "luxury" car.

Accurate steering is vital for maximum control, too. In an emergency, you don't have time for a sweeping twirl of the wheel. The car must respond instantly.

The 280S does. Credit the ingenious Mercedes-Benz recirculating-ball-type steering system. It eliminates sloppy play in the wheel—and blesses you with the "feel" of the road. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Taut, sensitive steering is retained even with Mercedes-Benz power steering—characterized by Car and Driver as "unquestionably the most precise unit of its kind ever developed."

If trouble comes

The responsiveness which makes the 280S such a joy to drive is its best defense against blundering motorists. However, if the worst happens, the car is designed to shield you. Naturally, it meets all the U.S. safety regulations. But Mercedes-Benz safety goes beyond the letter of these laws.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay shut on impact. The front and rear of the car are engineered to crumple in a crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

"A fellow hit me when I was stopped at a toll booth," reports one Mercedes-Benz owner. "People in his car were hospitalized. But I just opened my door and stepped out."

Showroom experiments

The 280S is as habitable as it is roadworthy and safe.

Slip behind the wheel, and flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, hour after hour. It should: it was designed with help from orthopedic physicians. The springs inside are tuned to the car's suspension motions, cancelling out thousands of tiring vibrations every mile.

Check the rear shelf. Carpeted. Feel the underside of the dashboard. There's no spaghetti tangle of wires. It's fully finished off. Finger the wood trim—real walnut, not plastic.

Many cars are designed to win admiration for their owners. Mercedes-Benz cars are designed to win admiration from their owners. Quite a distinction.

No shortcuts

Your 280S is built with uncompromising care, to make it a lasting investment.

Every 280S begins life in a shower of sparks. It is not bolted into being, like a conventional car, but solidified by thousands of welds. After 50,000 miles or so, you may start to wonder if it will ever rattle.

When welding stops, the body is gone over by hand with a soft glove. Bumps and burrs are spotted and smoothed away. Vital seams are packed with solder and buffed to oblivion.

The body is then dunked in a 52-ton primer tank, baked, sprayed, hand-sanded, sprayed again, then hand-sprayed. Total primer and paint rust protection: over 44 pounds.

As a final flourish in its armament against road salt, rust and rot, the 280S gets a 24-pound slathering of plasticized undercoating.

The overhead-cam, six-cylinder engine equals the coachwork for longevity. Bearings are delicately machined to within 4/10,000ths of an inch, and pistons and connecting rods are painstakingly matched and balanced. Yet this power plant is about as fragile as a bull. It's built to cruise flat-out indefinitely—and, on Germany's wide-open autobahns, it often does.

An unconventional car? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not make conventional cars—and never will.

Today is Monday, July 28th, the 209th day of 1969 with 156 to follow.

The moon is full. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1914, Austria declared war on Serbia, marking the real beginning of World War I.

In 1932, more than 15,000 unemployed war veterans camping in Washington were driven out of the city by federal troops. The vets were demanding immediate payment of a "war bonus."

In 1945, the United States Senate ratified the United Nations charter. The vote was 89-2.

Also in 1945, an Army B25 bomber lost in the fog crashed into the side of the Empire State Building in New York City, killing 13 persons.

A thought for the day: American writer Bret Harte said, "Never a tear bedims the eye that time and patience will not dry; never a lip is curved in pain that can't be kissed into smiles again."

Frightened Deer Leaps To Death

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A motorist may have frightened two deer into committing suicide.

Charles Evans told the sheriff's office he was approaching a bridge when he spotted two deer on the span. As he drew near, he said, they suddenly leaped over the side of the bridge.

The animals were found dead beneath the bridge.

Certain Bridge Players Are Useful When Breaking A Lease

Certain bridge players are useful when you want to break a lease. Having one or two of them in your game may not improve the quality of the bridge, but it does wonders for your lungs and your eardrums. TOP HEARTS

West took both top hearts and then shifted to the singleton deuce of clubs. South joyfully won the trick, drew trumps and ran the rest of the clubs to get rid of his two diamonds. He added up the rubber score smugly while his opponents engaged in what they were pleased to call a discussion.

"The deuce of clubs was as helpful as arsenic in your chewing gum," East snarled. "If I held the king of clubs you could lead an old shoe and still beat the contract. How could you lose by assuming that I didn't hold the king?"

"There must be a grumpier partner in North America," West conceded, "but the odds must be 40 million to one that I'll never meet him. All we could ever take is two hearts and the ace of diamonds, so what are you complaining about?"

MAKE DECLARER GUESS

"Just lead a low diamond after you've taken the two hearts. If he plays the king of diamonds he makes the contract; but if he plays the jack, he goes down. The least you could do is make him work for his profits." East then turned to South and asked: "What would you play from dummy if my so-called partner had led a low diamond at the third trick?"

"I'd still be thinking," South admitted.

SAVED TIME

"Then we saved a lot of time," West pointed out. "He'd think for an hour and then he'd play the king because I made the only bid and therefore should hold the ace of diamonds rather than just the queen."

You may choose your own side of this argument, but I'm on East's side. Win or lose, I believe in making my opponents do their own work.

Saturday's Answer

Strenuous Tactics Prevent Span Leap

An alert California Highway Patrol officer and a courageous passerby joined forces Saturday to prevent a 21-year-old San Francisco man from leaping to his death from Golden Gate Bridge.

Twice during the midspan drama, the suicide-bent man, Peter Sponken, hung suspended from a beam below the bridge with only a pair of handcuffs or rope keeping him from the water 260 feet below.

The late-afternoon action, according to the highway patrol, started about 3 p.m. when Sponken and his wife of two months argued about the purchase of a home. Sponken stalked from the house and then phoned his wife, "You'll find the car and my wallet at the bridge, I'm sorry," he reportedly told his wife.

The woman called the highway patrol office at the bridge and told officers of the threatened death leap. Minutes after the report, Officer Ronald K. Buzzard, of Petaluma, sighted Sponken walking on the bridge. He approached Sponken and tried to engage the young man in conversation. Instead, Buzzard reported, Sponken "went into a boxer's stance, like he wanted to fight me. Then all of a sudden he broke and ran northbound."

About midspan, Sponken suddenly leaped over the bridge railing and landed eight-feet below on a beam, Buzzard said, and lay there limp as if he were knocked out.

Before Buzzard could act, a passerby, William Dooley of Sonoma, leaped over the railing and landed on the beam with Sponken. Buzzard handed down his handcuffs and Dooley handcuffed Sponken to the beam.

Dooley climbed back onto the bridge, and suddenly Sponken slipped over the side and hung in mid-air with only the handcuffs keeping him from plunging into the water below.

"A bridge painter, Hale Sharrett then went over the rail," Buzzard reported, "and pulled Sponken back onto the beam. Then he tied his feet with rope and unfastened the handcuffs."

Sponken then went over the side of the beam again, this time hanging upside down, Buzzard said.

"While we pulled him back up, Sponken grapped a pipe under the beam and held on," Buzzard continued, "so I handed my night stick to Sharrett; he whacked Sponken's hand — and over the rail he came."

Sponken, a truck driver, was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

Dooley, 38, a supervisor for the Geyhound Bus Lines, said he didn't know why he jumped over after Sponken. He said he wasn't afraid until after he was back on the bridge and then looked down at the water below.

"That's when I got a little shook up," he said.

Bel Aire Father Found Dead In Family Home

A 35-year-old man, reportedly despondent over financial matters, shot himself to death Friday night at his home.

Marin County Dep. Coroner Richard W. Madigan said that Douglas E. Kinna, of 179 Blackfield Drive, shot himself in the head with a .22-caliber revolver about 8:45 p.m.

Madigan said that Kinna's wife, Deborah, who was home at the time of the shooting, indicated that the victim was upset with his financial affairs.

Kinna was the owner of Communication Marketing Inc., a San Francisco-based advertising agency. He was a native Californian.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a 6-month-old daughter.

Private funeral services were held Saturday.

Sarcophagus means "flesh-eater," a name deriving from the corrosive effect of early limestone coffins on bodies interred in them.

Three Spots Open On Planning Commission

The San Rafael city council is seeking applications to fill the vacancies created by the expired terms of three members of the planning commission. Interested persons should indicate interest and qualifications to City Manager Dan Andersen.

The city manager has also been instructed by the council to consult with the three members whose terms have expired to determine if they wish to be reappointed. Those members are Thomas O'Toole, Jorgen Lunding and Laurence Mulryan who has served for six months to complete the term of Carl Brown who moved from the area.

To Study Parking

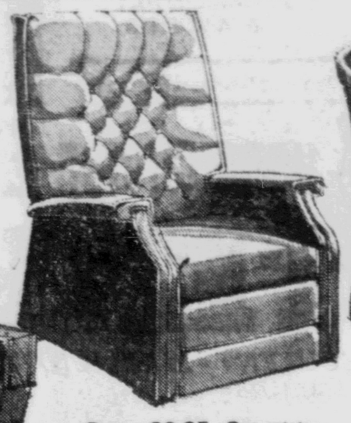

The Fairfax Planning Commission will consider recommendations to the city council for specific sites for parking districts in the city at its 8 p.m. meeting Thursday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

NURSING CAREER

Student Devoted To Service

Barbara Herbert of Stinson Beach may be a good example of many of today's bright young women who are planning to devote themselves to a career of service to others.

Outgoing, active and dedicated, she has just been elected student body president at Oakland's Providence College of Nursing, where she will be a senior student nurse in the fall.

One of 11 children of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Herbert of Stinson Beach, Barbara is the only one to follow her parents into the medical profession. Dr. Herbert is an internist with Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco and Mrs. Herbert is a registered nurse, with private duty and public health nursing experience.

Barbara considers it "just natural to go into the medical field because it is the profession of my parents," both of whom are graduates of John Hopkins University in Baltimore. But her twin sister, Deborah, is studying sociology as a senior at San Francisco College for Women.

Barbara has been singled out for praise by her instructors and by the Providence Hospital Guild when it awarded one of its two scholarships to her.

BUT SHE herself says, "I am not very different from any of my classmates. Anyone who goes into nursing today must be intelligent and have a tremendous drive to learn because the profession demands highly trained personnel. Then it is essential for today's nurse to keep on learning after she's finished her formal training because of the rapid changes and new developments in medicine and science.

"To me nursing is one of today's greatest scientific challenges," she believes. "Fifty years ago a nurse was not much more than a glorified maid. Today many of us take specialized training in areas like coronary care . . . Even if a nurse does not specialize in one particular field, there is still the challenge of keeping up with the new drugs and developments."

Her personal philosophy began to develop when Barbara was attending convent of the Sacred Heart high school in San Francisco, where she was a member of the tennis team and also a student body officer.

"After school I worked to provide religious training for public school children through the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine sponsored by the Holy Family Sisters of Mission San Jose," she says.

FOR THE PAST two summers she has been a counselor at Camp Imelda in Monte Rio, which, sponsored by the Dominican Sisters of Mission San Jose, works with some of the less privileged children sent on camperships by the San Francisco Guardsmen's Christmas tree sales project.

These experiences and her student nursing has led Barbara to the view that "combining scientific knowledge with human concern is one of my most important nursing goals.

"I try to treat every patient the same way that I want to be treated if I were in the hospital. This calls for a super awareness on my part of the patient's needs. Yet I must be able to work with illness without becoming bitter," says Barbara.

"It is no secret that we deal much more closely with human life than most. This is why many nurses today believe we have a greater responsibility than most to be involved with our community and its problems."

Barbara is looking forward to graduation day next June and meanwhile her life is very full indeed. And recently her parents announced her engagement to Timothy Mark Beeman of Hayward, a Duquesne University graduate who is in sales work with a plastic company.

A TREMENDOUS dedication toward her future profession is felt by student nurse Barbara Herbert of Stinson Beach, who will be a senior next fall at Oakland's Providence College of Nursing. Here she puts the surgical instruments that will be used for an appendectomy into a ready tray. She has been elected student body president for 1969-70. One of 11 children, she is the only one who has chosen to follow in her parents' footsteps toward a career in the medical field.

Sail Champion To Greet Yachters

By MOLLY MARIN

A reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Bekins on Corinthian Island, Belvedere, will welcome skippers and crews of the Triton class on Thursday. Don Bekins, who is both national commodore and national champion of the Triton-class yachts, and his wife Joan, will be greeting fellow yachtsmen representing the Triton fleets of Long Island, Chesapeake Bay, the Northwest, and the Geat Lakes. Bay Area Triton class members are also included in the cocktail party and buffet supper and will assist with the national championships, which will be held on the bay Aug. 1, 2 and 3, with San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere, as the host club.

During the round robin racing series with five yachts representing the five Triton regions, there will also be other social events. Friday the racers will be entertained for cocktails and dinner at the Corinthian Yacht Club, a banquet will honor them at San Francisco Yacht Club Saturday night, and the host club will be the scene of a champagne trophy party after the championships on Sunday.

House guests of Joan and Don Bekins during the competition will be Mr. and Mrs. Dick Marshall of Seattle.

JAPAN WAS the two-week vacation spot for Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKeay of Novato when Mr. McKeay was a delegate at the 52nd Lions International convention in Tokyo.

They flew by chartered plane to Tokyo, stopping at Anchorage, but when they arrived in Tokyo a typhoon held them over one day before they could begin a tour of Japan.

Their next stop was to Fukuoka on ths island of Kyushu, then they went by bus over beautiful mountains, Mrs McKeay said, to Beppu, a spa noted for its hot springs. They stayed at Ryoken or a Japanese style hotel. The highlight of their stay in Beppu was a visit to a private home where a doctor's wife performed the Japanese tea ceremony, and a luncheon was served to the tour group by the five Beppu Lions clubs.

They traveled by steamer ferry for 14 hours through the inland sea passage from Beppu to the port of Kobe, and then went by car to Nara via Osaka, the sister city of San Francisco, and passed the site of the Expo '70.

In Kyoto they visited the Heian shrine and the Nijo castle which contains the goddess of mercy and 1001 gilded carved images. They attended a sukiyaki dinner, were entertained by geisha girls, and the Kyoto Lions Club entertained the group at a luncheon.

Bob left the tour group at Kyoto and went to Tokyo to participate in the opening ceremonies of the convention and parade. He saw the royal family as they greeted the delegates. Participating in the parade, the California-Nevada Lions wore the costume of the early California dons.

Bob joined Mrs. McKeay again and they spent three days at Atami, popular seaside resort.

OF INTEREST in Marin is news of the wedding of Jeanne Caryn Leatham of Sacramento to William Edward Haney Jr., which took place in the garden at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Paul Leatham of Sacramento on July 14. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Haney of Ross. A graduate of the University of California, he is on the teaching staff of the anthropology department at American River College. The bride is a recent graduate of American River and plans to enter Sacramento State College in the fall. The couple plan a wedding trip next month when the American River College summer session ends. They will make their home in Sacramento.

IN SUPPORT OF the International Knarr Boat Championship Regatta, members of the San Francisco Bay Knarr Association are planning a barbecue and auction of yachting goods and services at San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere Friday.

Scheduled are a western style dinner, groovy music by a local rock group and an auction presided over by George Morf, a frequent auctioneer at the annual KQED benefit.

All San Francisco Yacht club members, Knarr, International One-Design, Star and Folkboat skippers and crews have received special invitations. The Bay Area Knarr fleet is holding the fun event to raise funds for the necessary hospitality, awards and arrangements for the up-coming Knarr International Championship — a first-ever event.

The Knarr fleets of Norway and Denmark are sending representatives to the international races, which will be a major event in the SFYC Centennial Regatta, honoring the Belvedere club's 100 years of yachting, Aug. 30-Sept. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert York are co-chairmen: Gary Giannini and Mrs. A. Robert Fisher, publicity and art; Richard Griffith Jr., A. Robert Fisher, Sallie Glassie, Knud Wibroe and Grant Settlemier, auction; Mrs. Grant Settlemier and Mrs. Anthony Guzzardo, telephone.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Legalizing 'Oldest Profession' Might Eliminate Propositioning

DEAR HELEN:

I read a news service article recently about legal prostitution in Nevada. This amazed me as I didn't think the oldest profession was legal anywhere in the United States. The article indicated there was no problem, and the townspeople in these rural areas rather approved of the idea, as the girls have regular medical check-ups, and there seems to be a certain respectability in their business now.

Not long before this, a judge in California came out publicly in favor of legalized prostitution inasmuch, he said, as it was here to stay, so why not face the fact honestly and eliminate a great deal of disease and jail sentences?

At first this shocked me, but the more I think about it, the more sense it makes. Why fight a losing battle? And, besides, if we went back to the lavish, red plush settings, maybe fewer reluctant girls would get propositioned. — T. R.

DEAR T:

"If you can't fight it, legalize it" has been used on every "no-no" from pot to perversion.

Seems to me that even with required licenses, there would still be more free-lancers than occupants of red plush houses. Witness the bar-belles in Nevada.

Comments, any one? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Is there any organization that could use old eyeglasses? I have several pairs to give away. — JAMES

DEAR JAMES:

The Telephone Pioneers of America collect old eyeglasses and send them to New Eyes for the Needy. You and others may mail your unwanted glasses to Telephone Pioneers of America, 2700 Watt Ave., Room 2352, Sacramento, Calif. 95821. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I woke up one day to realize that my wife and I are practically strangers. Or let's say — polite acquaintances. It wasn't always this way. She used to be fun-loving and eager, always ready to do whatever I suggested. She liked to talk, but I didn't listen very well. Looking back, I now realize I caused most of the change in her, for I downgraded her, compared her unfavorably with other women, often asked, "What did I ever see in you?" when we had fights. Yes, we fought in those days, as well as loved — because we cared.

But I didn't show my wife I cared enough. I was tired after work, so I made excuses when she wanted to go out, I was sarcastic and critical.

When she took on some of my qualities, I felt hurt, so I turned to a girl at the office. I excused myself by saying my wife didn't love me. The affair didn't last long, but I guess this was the last straw at home. Now, we're polite strangers, going our separate ways and never saying anything to each other that really means anything.

I suppose it's too late for us, but I hope some of these people who don't work at their marriage will read and take warning. If you'd fight with your mate, fight fair. Treat her as an equal. And, above all, give her compliments — appreciate her, show you love her. — TOO LATE

DEAR TOO:

It isn't too late — not if you show your wife this letter. I doubt that you are as entirely to blame as you think — and I'll bet your wife agrees with me, after you start communicating again. — H.

Agencies

There are nearly 1000 Community Action Agencies in the United States.

Mrs. B. M. Flemming Jr. Is Planned Parenthood Chairman

Mrs. B. Mason Flemming Jr. has been appointed by the Auxiliary of Planned Parenthood of Marin to serve as this year's chairman of volunteers at the association's clinic in San Rafael.

Blone, energetic Anne Flemming lives in Ross with her husband, Mason, who works for the Institutional Research Department of J. Barth and Co.; her two children Scott, age 4, Alison, 20 months and Erlo, their German Shepherd.

Asked what motivated her into becoming involved in Planned Parenthood, Anne Flemming said, "I am concerned with the rising rate of teen-age pregnancies and abortions. I think every child should be a wanted child, and I believe that the overpopulation problem is one of the major causes of urban unrest."

After graduating from Stanford University in 1959, she held many interesting positions: secretary to the Consul General of the United Arab Republic, secretary and business manager of a mail-order painting firm and personal secretary to the secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Kevin White, now Mayor of Boston. She has served as Marin art chairman of the KQED auction and arranged the show of Marin artists at the Tiburon Community Congregational Church last April.

Anne manages to handle her time-and energy-consuming job at Planned Parenthood, without giving up her hobbies of gourmet cooking, tennis, bicycling, bridge and tennis.

At the clinic she interviews and gives orientation to the volunteers who staff the operation with Mrs. Lawrence Jett of Greenbrae, co-chairman, in addition to arranging their monthly schedules and editing a monthly newsletter.

Anne also handles orientation meetings at which members of the Planned Parenthod Auxiliary become familiar with clinic operations and its educational programs. She participates as co-chairman at monthly workshops, which are held to keep the 35 regular volunteer staff members up to date on methods and procedures. These Marin County women perform services in a professional setting, working as nurses, receptionists, interviewers, social workers, office and clerical help.

"It requires a great deal of sikk and tact," says Mrs. Flemming.

Planned Parenthood of Marin has only three full-time employees and three part-time doctors. Fourteen Marin doctors comprise the medical advisory staff. The board of trustees is headed by the Rev. Charles Gompertz. The patient load is between 350 and 400 monthly. Fifty per cent are under 20 years of age. Recent new laws relating to minors allow for a teen-age girl living apart from her family who is self supporting, to obtain contraceptives without parental consent.

Anne Flemming feels that some of those ostensibly coming for birth-control information need professional counselling, sex education and referrals to other public and private agencies to cope with problems concerning pregnancies and V.D.

CONCERT REVIEW

Marinite Featured In Pops Symphony

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — A major success of the evening at Saturday night's San Francisco Symphony Pops Concert at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium was the middle program section featuring the San Francisco Civic Chorale directed by Marin's Winifred Baker.

As in previous years Maestro Arthur Fiedler turned over the baton to Miss Baker for the choral works accompanied by the orchestra. These consisted of the coronation scene from Moussorgsky's opera "Boris Godounoff," with Marin baritone Byron Jones as Boris; the Polovtsian dances from Borodin's opera "Prince Igor"; and the finale from Wagner's opera "Tannhauser."

Noted for her promotion of premiere performances, Miss Baker presented in the Tannhauser finale the first performance with a major orchestra of a new finale written by Frederick C. Mayer, organist and choirmaster at West Point Military Academy for over 40 years.

This proved an inspiring improvement on the finale which Wagner himself, realizing its deficiencies, had intended revising. Mayer's revision involved using a recapitulation of the entire "Pilgrims' Chorus" — one of the great choral melodies of all time — instead of the brief quotation from it that leaves an audience frustrated.

The nearly 200 singers sang the finale with tremendous spirit and sonority, and it was their best performance among the three works, though they were nearly as good in the Polovtsian dances.

The coronation scene, sung first, was a powerful orchestral tour de force, but the chorus was not at its best, a frequent occurrence in opening numbers.

I have heard Byron Jones do a sensational job of making himself heard and understood in this acoustically monstrous auditorium without a microphone, but for some reason this was not true Saturday night, at least from where I sat. One wished he had used a microphone. The role, too, calls for a big bass voice rather than a baritone. The two Welsh folk songs he sang as an encore were charming.

Fiedler opened the concert with a pleasing performance of Bizet's Symphony in C Minor No. 1, notable for its predominant and lovely string sonority and a very beautiful oboe solo in the adagio.

The concert ended on the light side, appealing to the older generation with a nostalgic medley of Victor Herbert favorites and to the "under 30" generation with some of the most popular Beatle tunes, such as "Hey, Jude." They are not quite right for a symphony orchestra. The vocal line is essential.

MUSIC REVIEW

Standing Ovation For Young Pianist

Patricia Michaelian, 19-year-old San francisco-born pianist of amazing talent, received a well-deserved standing ovation yesterday afternoon in the second concert of the Marin Music Chest's summer series at Forest Meadows.

Whether the audience was smaller than that at the first concert because of vacations or because the general public is not aware of her high rating, was uncertain, but knowledgable Marin music lovers know that she is one of the major young artists of today. She is a favorite soloist with the San Francisco Symphony and is destined for a brilliant career.

Miss Michaelian's program of works by Bach, Schumann, Mozart, Ravel and Liszt, with a Rachmaninoff prelude as an encore, gave her an opportunity to show one of the real tests of a musician — the ability to play in a wide variety of musical styles.

Her opening number, a Bach Partita in B Flat, was played with light, airy grace and flowing rhythm with every finger a perfectly controlled singer in the contrapuntal texture. Seldom does one hear a more even touch and smooth legato.

In a sparkling Mozart D Major Sonata every note was a distinct jewel, and Ravel's "Valses Nobles Et Sentimentales" was full of both bold and shimmering, evanescent color.

Contrasting with this was the romantic exuberance of Schumann's Sonata in G Minor, Opus 22. The andantino, however, was more an andante cantabile.

While Miss Michaelian has a formidable technique, one feels that musical values are of far more importance to her than virtuoso feats. She has exceptional power for a girl, especially a strong left hand, and proved this in the typical Liszt thunder and lightning and fleet rippling runs and trills in that composer's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12.

The next Music Chest program will be the complete Mozart opera "Cosi Fan Tutti" presented in English by the Western Opera Theatre on Aug. 24 at 3 p.m. A free preview is being offered on Aug. 14 at 11 a.m. in the Northgate area of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. MPS

VOLUNTEERS DON'T WAIT

Marinites Boost Low-Cost Housing

By DAVID DIETZ

Aroused by national tragedy and inspired new federal incentive, a swelling group of Marin social, business and church organizations is working outside governmental framework to provide Marin's low and moderate income families with new housing.

To the volunteer groups, who belong to an organization called the Ecumenical Association for Housing, the need is critical.

"Marin County has in recent years experienced a drastic rise in land and construction costs which, when coupled with equivalent increases in the real property tax rate, has posed a dilemma for residents with low income," the association brochure says.

No new public housing for other than elderly groups has been built in Marin in five years. And, outside of the doomed Hilarita project in Tiburon, none of it is located outside Marin City. Private, low-rent housing also is scarce.

The association, formed last December, provides member groups with financial and professional aid to build housing projects. The first step has been taken. Last month, the First Congregational Church in Los Ranchitos, one of the association's first members, applied for a $1,084,000 federal loan to construct 61 units of housing on its property.

It was Rev. Francis Geddes, the church's minister, who led the way toward formation of the association. After the assassinations of Dr. Martin Luther King and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy last spring, Geddes called a meeting of representatives of various churches in the county. From that session, "crisis committees" were formed to analyze the Kerner report and examine racial divisions in Marin.

At a meeting of one of the committees, according to assocation executive director Martin Mackey of Belvedere, Wallace K. Shepard, then a field representative for the county human rights commission, reported on a revision of the Federal Housing Act which provided incentive to nonprofit sponsors of low and moderate income housing.

The incentive is in the form of federal payments to project mortgagees to reduce interest costs.

"Wallace Shepard said that if we could get the churches together, there was a lot to be accomplished," Mackey said.

Nine organizations, including seven churches, formed the nucleus of the Ecumenical Association for Housing. Now, six months later, there are 28 member groups, including social action committees, real estate groups and a bank.

Each pays $200 to join and appoints a regular and an alternate representative to monthly board of directors meetings. The fees are pooled to provide "seed money" to study the feasibility of housing projects.

Besides Mackey, a 51-year-old former district manager ofr a San Francisco construction firm who chose the association's work as a second career, the association staff is made up of John L. Dole Jr., a former planner in the county planning department who serves as a volunteer consultant, and a part-time secretary. A $25,000 grant from the San Francisco Foundation is paying the first year's operating costs.

As housing is built, the association expects to become self-supporting by its fourth year. Mackey said association directors are hopeful of providing 400 low and middle income units through member groups by 1971, although he thought this to be "very optimistic."

E. M. Schaffran of San Francisco has been retained as a housing consultant, while the San Francisco architectural firm of Kaplan and McLaughlin is association architect. The latter provides planning and design coordination for the entire program, while member groups who sponsor housing projects select their own architects.

Screening of possible housing sites is done by a committee which includes a pool of architects and engineers and is headed by architect George Banning. Because it doesn't have the funds at present to buy land, however, the association doesn't expect housing projects to be held by members who own large held by members who won large pieces of property, as in the case of the First Congregational Church.

Group representatives on the association board of directiors are housewives, social workers, attorneys and planners.

"These people are professionals who also are concerned about the objectives," said Mackey, adding that he quit the construction business to go to work for the association shortly after sitting in on one of its first meetings. "Initially, people thought this was purely an altruistic thing, but at the bottom of it everybody connected with the organization is interested in working toward a community we all want to be part of."

Integrated housing will be encouraged. Mackey said developments constructed with association help "will allow blacks to move out of Marin City if they want to."

The association brochure declares, "Toward furtherance of our goal, 'Planning to Preserve People,' it shall be a prime objective to prevent the perpetuation of ghettos, be they black or white. We seek to promote community heterogeneity.

"Because the black person must overcome barriers over and beyond economic obstacles, we shall place emphasis on providing housing for minority races on a fully integrated basis."

The pamphlet also said that "contractors will be hired who have demonstrated social concern in maximizing participation in the work force at all levels of the construction proceess."

Mackey said tenants will represent the $5,000 to $10,000 income group. "There has been no program for them so far," he said. Rent would be charged on the basis of annual income and could run as much as 35 per cent below average, Mackey said. it is planned that the developments eventually will become condominiums or cooperatives.

Bagley Tax Zone Bill Becomes Law

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill authorizing special tax zones within a community services district, introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has been signed into law by Gov. Roand Reagan. (Other Legislature and Sacramento stories, page 7.)

Bagley's bill, introduced at the request of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, allows the zones to incur bonded indebtedness to pay for improvements and services within the zones.

The supervisors asked for the bill after a subdivision in Lucas Valley balked at joining a community services district that provided both fire and recreation services. The subdivision already had its own recreation facility, and wanted to join the district for fire protection — but did not want to pay for district recreation, too.

Under Bagley's bill, residents of such a subdivision could pay only that portion of the district's tax that related to fire protection.

Bruce Declares 'No Harassment' In Radio Technician Troubles

Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce said today there was "no evidence whatsoever of any harassment" of two recently resigned county communications technicians by Communications Director John H. Atkinson.

Bruce, in a report on the county's communications department to be presented to the board of supervisors tomorrow, said his office's investigation of "apparent turmoil" in the department indicated that charges of harassment by Atkinson were unfounded.

The board's all-day meeting begins at 9 a.m.

The harassment charges were leveled by technician Francis Strohmeyer when he and Robert Perry quit earlier this month. The only other two technicians had quit earlier.

The Marin County Employees Association said it had received "considerable reports of harassment" of the departing technicians. Randall M. Prevo, head of the association, said they had been given a "fast shuffle."

Bruce, however, said Strohmeyer and Perry resigned because they "were motivated by feelings of insecurity, lack of advancement opportunities and loss of confidence.

"These are sincere feelings on the part of the men and are to be respected; however, they were not caused by harassment by Mr. Atkinson."

The supervisors will also get a list of 31 persons who are willing to serve on the newly created family and children's advisory committee, which will study problems of families in need of public aid and make recommendations.

A hearing will be held on an appeal by the Gallinas Village Improvement Association for lower denisty in an apartment project proposed by developer P. J. Tarrant at North San Pedro Road and La Brea Way, Santa Venetia.

Major items in the afternoon include a status report on the county's plan to remove health and safety hazards in the Gate 5 area of Waldo Point, submission of drawings of Novato's new library and Fair-Marin's request for changes in the state design of the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

South Bay Developers Deny Backing Weak BCDC Bill

Westbay Community Associates, which plans extensive development of its 10,000 acres of bay lands in San Mateo County, has denied a claim that it pushed a weak bill to extend the life of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The claim was made last Monday by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, after the Senate Finance Committee recommended a bill by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, that would delete the late 1969 expiration date of the BCDC.

BOTH FAVORED

Knox, author of a bill that incorporates conservation-backed provisions strengthening the commission's powers and extending its jurisdiction to some 50,000 acres of salt ponds, promptly charged that Westbay pushed the committee vote on the Nejedly bill to forestall a committee vote on his own bill. But the committee voted Tuesday night to recommend Knox's bill, too, after it cut out proposed BCDC controls over shoreline development.

Robert L. Cranmer, project manager for Westbay, in a letter to newspapers throughout the Bay Area, said, "We had no information that the committee would move the bill, and we had no contract with Senator Nejedly or with any member of the finance committee on this matter.

'LIMBO' CLAIMED

"In fact, our private interest is better served by having a bill passed which lets owners of bay lands know where they stand and permits some development to proceed," Cranmer said of Knox's bill. "The Nejedly bill would leave us in limbo for at least another year," Cranmer said.

Cranmer's letter said his firm opposed the provision in the Knox bill requiring a two-thirds vote by BCDC members to change the master plan for the bay. "As it stands, one third of the commissioners could block the will of the majority."

He also said Westbay's lobbysists were urging elimination of the Knox bill provision "that fill in the bay for any purpose should be authorized only when no alternative upland location is available for such purpose."

Members of the Westbay partnership are David Rockefeller, Ideal Basic Industries, Crocker Land Company and Lazard Freres and Company.

Better Care For Mental Patients Bill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to improve care of mentally retarded patients at Sonoma State Hospital has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

His measure would reallocate $300,000 of the hospital's budget to be spent on about 50 new psychiatric technicians instead of on additional psychoanalysts and psychiatrists.

It also would require that at least one member of the hospital's board of trustees be from the parents' groups at the hospital, and that the hospital's superintendent sit as an ex officio nonvoting member of the board.

The parent-trustee "will be able to communicate the concerns of the patients which are too often unheard," Bagley said, and the superintendent's presence at board meetings "should increase his awareness of basic problems.

"It is morally criminal that animals in veterinary hospitals get better treatment than the mentally retarded in our state hospitals," Bagley said.

Next year, the Legislature should devise a plan to reorganize the administration of state facilities for the mentally retarded, he said. "They are currently custodial in nature, and not prepared to meet the needs of the mentally retarded."

Driver Cuts Lip As Auto Strikes Pole

Richard Weeder, 51, of 235 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, was treated for a cut lip yesterday at Marin General Hospital after his car ran into a telephone pole at 10:12 p.m. on Miller Avenue Extension, south of Camino Alto, Mill Valley police reported.

Weeder reportedly told police he hit the pole when he turned to talk to a passenger in his car.

Police Find Pot, $10,000 With Pair In Luxury Car

Two men carrying $10,055 in small bills, were arrested yesterday for possession of marijuana after their luxury car was stopped on Highway 101 for a routine traffic check, the California Highway Patrol said today.

Booked into Marin County Jail where they were held in lieu of $18,000 bail each were Lawrence Harrison, 28, and Kevin Stein, 21. They were to be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court today.

Highway patrolman George Gallegos said he stopped the car — a 1954 Bentley — to check its registration since it was bearing foreign license plates.

A search of the car yielded about a lid of marijuana in the car's glove compartment and a back seat and a paper bag containing $8,600, Gallegos said. He said Stein also was carrying $1,495.

The men gave no explanation for the cash, he said. The car was registered to a Ronald Stevenson of Jenner.

Costs Correction

The estimated cost of 13 air-powered scaffold hoists, for which competitive bids were authorized Friday by Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors, was $19,000, not $247,000 as reported incorrectly Saturday by the Independent-Journal. The hoists will speed sandblast and paint operations on the arch spans.

Woman Burned In Home Fire Improves

A San Anselmo woman, seriously burned in a fire Saturday, fair condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Mrs. Elfriede Muller, 65, suffered first degree burns over much of the upper part of her body in the fire which caused $18,000 damage to her home at 19 Agatha Court.

Board Seeks Teacher Pay Settlement

Tamalpais High School District trustees tonight will try to resolve the last outstanding dispute in Marin County over teacher pay for next school year.

The board has scheduled a meeting with negotiators for the Tamalpais District Teachers Association for 8 p.m. in the district office at Redwood High School.

The salary dispute has remained unsolved since a June meeting at which trustees offered a 5 per cent scale increase and teacher negotiators rejected it. Earlier the teachers had asked that the scale be raised 10 per cent.

This would be in addition to increased health and dental insurance benefits which the board already has agreed to give the teachers.

Salary settlements in other Marin school districts this year have ranged from no increase (Langunitas and Bolinas-Stinson districts) to a 10 per cent hike in scale (Dixie district). The rundown is as follows:

Bolinas-Stinson — No salary scale increase but district-paid medical-dental insurance as a new fringe benefit.

Dixie — Ten per cent increase for teachers, $40 to $60 per month for non teachers.

Fairfax — Four and one-half per cent increase.

Lagunitas — No increase.

Larkspur — Six and two-tenths per cent increase.

Mill Valley — Five per cent increase.

Novato — Four per cent increase.

Reed — Eight per cent increase.

Ross — Seven per cent increase.

San Anselmo — Nine per cent for teachers, 6.66 to 8.33 per cent for other employees.

San Rafael — Six per cent for teachers, 5 per cent for others

Sausalito — Seven and one-half per cent.

Marin Junior College — Nine per cent.

The scale increases are in addition to regular annual increments for all teachers except those at the top of the salary ladder. These range from $300 to over $400 per year, depending on the district.

Marine Patrol Rescues Man, 70, In Bay Waters

A 70-year-old Richmond man was rescued from San Francisco Bay Saturday by the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol, officers reported today.

Victor A. Muzio of the marine patrol reported Brook Taylor fell overboard about 1:15 p.m. Saturday while weighing anchor between Angel Island and Alcatraz.

His companion, James Dougle, also of Richmond, called for help and a marine patrol vessel manned by William Traber and his son, Charles, and Dean Merrick, who were patrolling Racoon Straits, responded, Muzio reported.

Dougle was unable to pull Taylor, a 200-pound man who was semiconscious after a half hour in the water, into the boat, Muzio said.

Charles Traber went into the water and helped his father and Merrick get him aboard Traber's boat.

A Coast Guard helicopter arrived and took Traber to Letterman General Hospital where he was treated for mild shock, Muzio reported.

Mill Valley Police Recovers Sports Car

A 1957 Porsche, stolen Saturday from Peter J. Sack of 341 Hazel Avenue, Mill Valley, was recovered yesterday on a Mill Valley canyon street stripped of its engine, tachometer and other parts police reported.

Police said the car was taken from in front of Sack's home sometime between 8:30 p.m. Saturday and 9:34 a.m. Sunday. It was discovered parked in front of 146 Cascade Drive. Loss was estimated at $1,100, police said.

Tax Petition Drive Begins

Three committee chairmen for the Kennedy initiative campaign in Marin County have been named by Mrs. Sally Ryan of Terra Linda and Mrs. John Morton of Strawberry, county coordinators.

The campaign is to collect signatures to qualify an initiative measure repealing that portion of the Unruh Education Act which removes voter controls from school tax rates as of 1971.

Norman Traverso was named supply chairman; Mrs. Nan Hepp, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Kersh Walters, finance chairman.

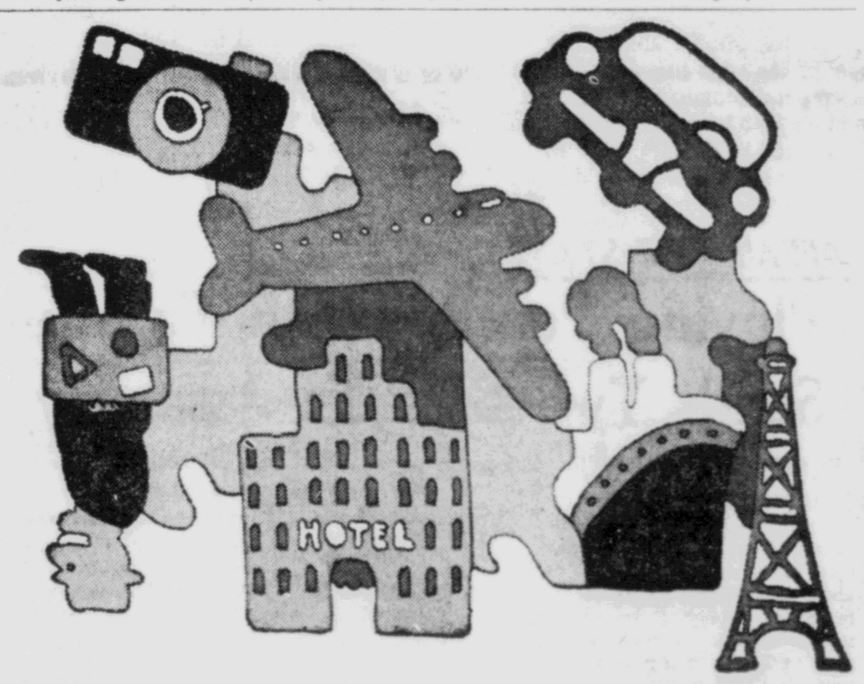

Headquarters for the petition drive will be the Marin Property Owners Association office at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Walters at 120 Mount Lassen Drive, San Rafael.

Four Hurt As Car Hits Bridge

Four members of a Sacramento family sustained minor injuries Saturday when their car ran off the roadway and struck the Olema Creek Bridge on the Shoreline Highway near Point Reyes.

Treated for cuts and released from Marin General Hospital were the driver Ted W. Blanchard, 47; Mildred Blanchard, 45; Terresa Blanchard, 16 and Dale Blanchard, 7.

California Highway Patrol officers said the car hit the bridge at 2:55 p.m. after the car's right front tire went into a three-foot dropoff at the roadway's edge.

Lesson On Grocery Shelf Applies To Drug Prices

On a shelf at the Safeway store in San Rafael are one-pound cans labeled MSG, priced at $1.39. Right beside them are 10-ounce cans labeled Accent, priced at $1.98.

MSG stands for monosodium glutamate, which is extracted from the pulp of sugar beets left over after the sugar refining process. It is used in cooking, to heighten the flavors of foods.

The cans of Accent bear the notation: "99 plus per cent pure monosodium glutamate."

Accent has been heavily advertised, and doubtless many housewives select the 10-ounce can at $1.98. But price-wise buyers take the pound can of MSG at $1.39.

WHAT IS TRUE with monsodium glutamate at the grocery store is true with many pharmaceuticals at the drug store. But in the latter case, the buyer often does not have a choice. His physician may prescribe the remedy by brand name, rather than generic name. Or the druggist, asked for the substance by its generic name, may offer the purchaser only the same product as a brand-name drug at a higher price. The drug buyer rarely has the same freedom of selection as the grocery buyer.

It would appear obvious that Accent International, which markets monosodium glutamate under its copyrighted name of Accent, has a wider margin of profit than do the various companies that produce the same thing under its generic name (although the latter are mostly sugar refiners to whom MSG represents a profitable by-product). Similarly, pharmaceutical companies realize bigger profit margins from drugs marketed under trade names than from the same drugs marketed under their generic names at lower prices.

This simple matter of economics explains why the drug manufacturers spend money on advertising in the medical press, distribution of free samples to doctors, etc., to encourage physicians to prescribe drugs by brand name — and why the same manufacturers fight fang and claw against attempts at legislation which would endanger the carefully nurtured pretense that the same drug becomes purer and better by being labeled with a manufacturer's brand name.

AN EXAMPLE of the lengths to which some of them will go in this came to light recently in connection with a bill by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-Louisiana, calling for Medicare prescriptions to specify drugs by their common rather than brand names.

A member of the Senate Finance Committee staff who did much of the work on the bill was Jay Constantine. He and committee members discovered that a private investigative agency was making personal inquiries about Constantine — who was not looking for another job.

According to a New York Times story of July 19, Gilbert S. McInerney, vice president and general counsel of American Home Products Corp., confirmed that his company had hired the sleuths to check into Constantine's background.

American Home Products is a big prescription drug manufacturer through its subsidiaries, Wyeth Laboratories, Ayerst Laboratories, Fort Dodge Laboratories, and Ives Laboratories. The profit margins of all these might be damaged by passage of Senator Long's bill.

McInerney denied that his company hoped to find something with which it could smear Constantine — and thereby, indirectly, the proposed legislation.

THE DRUG COMPANIES contend that they spend large amounts on research, and that their concern is the public health rather than merely the profit margin. But, like the research that resulted in producing MSG from beet pulp that formerly was used only for livestock feed, much of the drug research has little or no connection who profits from the subsequent branding.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Playing Politics With Tax Cut Sends Two Bills To Assembly

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's plan to return $100 million surplus state funds (now decreased to about $82 million) to income taxpayers through a reverse su4tax on 1969 returns due next April was voted by the senate last Wednesday.

But at the same time, the Senate voted a measure by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, increasing the proposed rebate amount to $119 million.

The governor's measure, handled by Sen. George Deukmajian, R-Long Beach, passed 23-13, while Moscone's measure passed by 21-15.

THUS, THE SENATE, which usually makes final decisions on state fiscal policy, sent two bills on the same subject to the lower house, which presumably will make the final decision on whether the state returns a straight 10 per cent income tax cut on an across-the-board basis or whether the amount shall be larger than the governor recommends and favor the so-called "middle income" taxpayers.

Deukmajian's measure, SB 285, was taken up first: it cleared the senate in short order.

Supposedly, that was the signal to defeat Moscone's measure, SB 324, but some place along the line, the signals were crossed. The Moscone bill not only had the approval of the Democratic contingent in the Senate, but a few Republicans as well.

IT'S MORE than evident the legislature is playing political games with the proposed tax rebate, for although a $100 million rebate sounds like a lot of money, the total sum to the individual taxpayer, either under the governor's plan or the Moscone plan, will be nominal. It will, in fact, to the great majority of taxpayers, be less than the $70 "tax relief" checks mailed to home-owners this year.

Actually, under either of the bills, the taxpayers never will see the cash money, as it is intended to deduct 10 or more per cent of the 1968 return from the amount owed in 190 for 1969 taxes, this being termed a "reverse" surtax.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

New Child Care Program Needed

I am a divorcee. I certainly do not like this position but I must do my very best at achieving things for the benefit of my two preschool children. There are many women, as you know, who are in the same boat and generally must pull the entire barrage of providing a secure home.

I work in San Rafael full time. I must pay $30 per week for the care of my children just for the privilege of working. I am making what is considered good money for a secretary in Marin County yet I barely have enough for food and if the chance ever arose that I could go out and enjoy myself once, I'm sure I could not scrape up enough for a sitter. At first the county supplemented my income by giving me an extra $10 to $20 per month and medical benefits. When I received a 10-cent an hour raise, they dropped me, so now I am actually making less money after my raise came into effect. That sure makes the brick wall bigger and does not encourage me to continue working.

The point I am trying to make is that I feel very strongly that the state or county should set up a system of day care for preschool children from broken homes. I feel that this should be staffed by licensed teachers able to guide children of these ages. I believe that if a system like this were set up, there would be enough (even if it were a small minority) women going off the welfare rolls through this added encouragement to work . . . to compensate the expenses of setting up this day care center.

Price-Wage Controls Needed In U.S.

I read in the I-J that the cost of living index has risen to the highest level in 18 years. In another publication, I learn that organized labor continues to press for higher and higher wages plus fringes so that in the construction field, workers will be getting more than $11 per hour and grossing $22,000 per year in 1970!

In the light of the above, it would appear to me that our government's dickering with a 10 per cent surcharge to control inflation is like treating a patient who has cancer with tranquillizers. Unpalatable though it may be politically, we should follow the example of the British who not too long ago were forced to have wage-price controls. After more than a decade of trying to placate the insatiable demands of the trade unions, the Labor government finally came to grips with the real problem, and latest trade figures now point to an economic comeback.

Reservations About Road Connections

Mr. Frank Berto, as quoted in the Independent-Journal July 18, made some statements concerning a meeting of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association which I feel call for some clarification.

The tenor of his comments was that the majority of the people at the meeting were desirous of at least two connections between Ross Valley and Terra Linda, only one of them in Sleepy Hollow after the route of Highway 17 is approved. He then goes on to say a vote was not taken because of the lateness of the hour.

If one would care to review the minutes of the meeting, he will find that a vote was taken not to act on the policy until further discussion and study could be made at another meeting.

I for one, had serious reservations in the manner in which the policy was presented and the recommendations made.

Little League Story Delights Mother

I have to write to praise Gary Tischler for his terrific article entitled "Appeal All Its Own" (I-J, July 23). It hit my heart. I'm sending it to my son Dale Friend in Vietnam.

You see for eight years I was a Little League mother of four baseball playing sons, and saw them experience all the emotions expressed in this article. I was one of many who helped in the organization work of seeing Twin Cities Joe Wagner Field being completed.

But most of all the experience received on this Little League field may help to save my son's life. Out of 1,200 men at Fort Lewis, Wash., basic training, he received a high point trophy for the physical proficiency test and part of that test was his being first in hand grenade throwing.

Thanks, Gary, for this beautiful article.

Lessons From Trip To Moon Applicable To Earthly Problems

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is a lesson to be learned on earth from the trip to the moon.

It is not the obvious — that having shown we can put together everything to make it possible to go to the moon, this makes it possible to do anything on earth in the same way.

It doesn't. The question has to be asked: How can we apply to earth-problems the special factors which made Apollo 11 such a success?

THE MOON FLIGHT is incentive and inspiration, but the lesson we need to see is that while the NASA achievement points the way, it does not clear the path.

The only way to clear the path to make possible on earth the awesome feat we achieved in space is to bring into being the special conditions which made the achievement possible.

In its superb new book, "U.S. on the Moon," U.S. News & World Report wants to know: "If we can go to the moon . . . why can't we clear our pollution, cure our decaying cities, untangle our traffic jams, exploit the resources of the sea?"

THERE'S A REASON: there's a deterrent, and this deterrent must first be recognized before it can be removed.

The reason is that unusual circumstances and compulsions made Project Apollo possible. It is far more difficult to bring these conditions together to mobilize a comparable effort behind Project Cities or Project Low-Cost Housing.

It can be done, but we can't wave a NASA team of government, science and industry into being and just say, "Make our cities livable."

THE KEYS to the success of the NASA undertaking are:

1 — A clearly identifiable goal to be achieved in a stated time — man on the moon in the decade.

2 — Decisive presidential advocacy.

3 — The galvanic pressure of competition with the Soviet Union.

4 — Substantial national unity behind the goal.

5 — Visible progress to sustain national support.

Without these ingredients, Apollo 11 would not have arrived on the moon on schedule. And these ingredients are painfully difficult to come by in seeking magnificent earthly solutions. Congress spends more readily for space hardware than for social need.

WHEN IT COMES to the crisis of the cities, there are conflicts between black and white and rich and poor which did not complicate the work of NASA. The building trades unions throw roadblocks in the path of George Romney's Project Low-Cost Housing in ways which rarely hampered Project Apollo.

A beginning is possible. The astronauts could never have taken Eagle to Tranquility Base if NASA had not first devised a comprehensive plan, taking in everything that would be needed to be built and done.

That is the first need — a total plan for making American cities livable. A government-science-industry team, ole NASA, could be created to do it.

ANOTHER LESSON of Apollo is that it will always be man and machine which will do our tasks — not machine taking over from man.

As Neil Armstrong skillfully guided his craft to avoid plunging into a crater, one TV commentator remarked with evident relief:

"Well, this shows that man is still needed, that computers can't take over everything."

This is fable, but it tends to take on the gloss of truth by repetition.

The computer is not going to take over from man because it can't do anything man doesn't tell it to do. It is mindless. It gives back only what man has programmed into it.

The computer came near to dropping Eagle into the crater because it could not respond to unforeseen circumstances. Maybe man will build a computer that can respond to unforeseen circumstances — but that will be because man has told it how.

We can banish the fear that matter is going to take over mind.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Change In Draft Law Looks Long Way Off

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The outlook for any major change in the Selective Service Act this year is growing dimmer by the day.

There isn't the slightest chance of the House or Senate doing anything on this long-controversial issue before the start of the three weeks' recess in the middle of August. And the prospects for action are little if any better when Congress reconvenes Labor Day.

THERE ARE SEVERAL reasons for this backstage situation.

(1) The draft law doesn't expire for another two years — June 30, 1971. As a consequence, there is no pressing urgency to do anything about it. With Congress facing a heavy accumulation of unfinished business, there is no inclination to tackle anything that can wait.

(2) Two months ago, President Nixon proposed six important revisions — the most notable a lottery plan. A week later, the administration's bill was introduced in the House by Rep. Leslie Arends, Ill., Republican whip and ranking GOP member of the House Armed Services Committee. But since then, neither he nor the White House has done a thing about it.

(3) In the Senate, the situation is even murkier. The administration's measure still hasn't been submitted there. Apparently, none of the eight Republican members of the Senate Armed Services Committee has offered to sponsor it.

IN THE HOUSE the President's six recommendations are going to remain firmly pigeonholed as far as a key member is concerned.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Subcommittee on the Draft, has no intention of doing anything about them. He contends that everything the President has proposed can be accomplished by executive or administrative action.

Unless overruled by the 40-member (23 Democrats, 17 Republicans) House Armed Services Committee, Hebert does not plan to hold hearings.

MORE THAN 40 bills have been offered in the House for a wide range of changes in the Selective Service Act. The most massive was sponsored by Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., and 20 other members. It consists of 86 pages, and Thompson informed Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, that he wanted hearings on the measure.

"I will certainly consider that," said Rivers pleasantly. "And in order to expedite that, I would like very much to have you and all the co-sponsors of this very large and important bill to prepare for me a detailed explanation of every one of the revisions you propose. I am very anxious to get your views and those of everyone of the 20 co-sponsors."

Thompson shook his head ruefully and replied. "That's a mighty big order, Mr. Chairman, but I'll see what can be done."

So far, neither he nor any of the co-sponsors has submitted a report. Rivers amiably says he is in no hurry to hear from them. They can take all the time they want.

Moon Landing Made Prophet Out Of Former Candidate

The moon landing has made quite a prophet out of Mel Warenback of Terra Linda.

Back in 1966, when he was running for county supervisor, Warenback thundered: "We'll have a man on the moon before they ever widen Puerto Suello Hill."

Well, you'll notice they've just gotten around to carving up Puerto Suello Hill for the Highway 101 widening job.

THE MOON-ROMP still has us a bit breathless and shaky, especially with subsequent reports of the close call the astronauts had.

The landing craft overshot the target by a few miles and nearly ran out of fuel while looking for a comparatively level spot where the spider legs wouldn't catch on some boulder and overturn. If the landing craft had tilted too far, they'd never have made it back.

What they ought to do hereafter is to shoot an unmanned lunar landing and takeoff module and soft-land it at Tranquillity Base. This could be followed by the manned lunar module, landing within a few yards of the first craft. Then, if something goes wrong with the manned vehicle, either in landing or takeoff, the men could hop into the spare vehicle and blast off for home.

IN THE EXCITEMENT over the moon landing, we lost track of that lawsuit someone filed against God in Sonoma County some weeks back. We've often wondered what a furore it would have created if the defendant had actually shown up in court.

Judge: "Next case is John Doe vs. God. I presume the defendant has failed to show."

God: "Defendant is ready to proceed."

Hizzoner: "Oh my G . . . Goodness! How in H . . . How did you get here? Well, swear him in, Mr. Clerk."

Clerk: "Do you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth so help me . . . help yourself?"

Hizzoner: "Well now, sir, do you have counsel? No? You mean you're acting as your own attorney? Haven't you heard the old saying that he who represents himself has a fool . . . I mean a foolproof defense?"

So the trial winds up, the jury goes out, then troops back into court with a unanimous decision. "We find for the defendant," says the foreman. Case dismissed.

"How else could we have voted?" pleads the foreman, cornered in a press interview. "How can anybody be against motherhood and God?"

THESE SUPERVISORS' workshop sessions where they gather around a table and toss ideas back and forth are getting us increasingly nervous. It's not so much the people or the topics; it's the darned ash trays.

A year or so ago, every ash tray would have been filled in 10 minutes. Today, every ash tray is sparkling clean, except the one in front of you.

With each puff, you look around hopefully for any sign of support. Not a friendly smoke in sight. You get the lonely feeling that everyone has betrayed you. The only comforting sights are Alan Bruce's faithful pipe (even though it is unlit most of the time) and Supervisor Bill Gnoss's occasional cigar.

Predictions Of 'Bright' Future Give Rise To Old Question

The closer we come to the 21st Century, the more impatient we seem to be to have done with this tired old century and the more magical appears that not too distant year 2000 A.D.

Visionaries and Peeping Tom mystics peering into time are having their day. You can be sure as the year 2000 hovers closer we'll be inundated by the most psychedelic prognostications of the prophets' art, from the heavenly to the hellish.

By a creeping implication, the unveiling of the second millennium will be made to appear as if great changes will suddenly and miraculously confront us. We would do well to remember that what will be in bloom for us then has been rooted today.

THESE VISIONS have also been the literary concern of science-fiction writers and journalists with a flair for the sensational. We read and smile and let them go.

But when scientists, Nobel Prize winners and notables from every field of technology offer their predictions, we listen respectfully. And when their forecasts put science fiction in the shade, we become apprehensive.

In the year 2000, we are told, moon voyages will be commonplace. Earth will have artificial satellites that will be constantly manned. There will be deep probes into our solar system and preparation will be under way for explorations beyond.

The world's population will be four times its present number. All food will be completely synthetic. Sea water and ordinary rocks will yield our necessary metals. Disease and famine will be of the past and kept that way through universal hygienic inspection and control. The problems of energy production will have been overcome.

THE SCIENTISTS speak of remarkable progress to be made in two specific fields. One is in educational methods. Knowledge need not be gathered in the slow and sometimes painful process it is today. It will be transmitted to the brain without attention or effort. What information is needed will pass from "electronic banks" directly to the human nervous system by means of coded electronic messages. No more reading, no more learning; whatever is necessary to know will go from machine to brain without going through the consciousness.

The other field to see radical progress will be genetics. Natural reproduction will be forbidden. In the year 2000, so say the scientists, the population will have been stabilized and maintained by artificial insemination. This will also permit only the highest human types to be developed. Ovum and sperm will have been taken from persons representing the highest types. To get a more accurate perspective of the true value of the individuals to be used, reproductive cells will be those of persons dead long enough to allow an evaluation of their lives and their works. These cells will be kept in cell banks and will represent the genetic heritage of humanity. This method of reproduction will be applied universally, otherwise if it were applied intelligently and intensively by people of one country, they would soon reach an invincible level of superiority.

MOST OF THE ABOVE predictions were taken from texts by American and Russian scientists concerning society in the year 2000 published in the weekly L'Express of Paris.

The technological and scientific progress suggested by the experts impressed this generalist to humbly inquire:

"What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

Fairfax Trustees Schedule Interviews For Board Seat

The Fairfax School District board will hold a special session in the district's administration offices at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to interview three candidates for the vacancy on the board.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said there have been five applications to succeed Leonard A. Weiss, who resigned after two years on the board.

The candidates are Patrick Fitzgerald of Buena Vista Road, Georgia Elmenhorst of 2 Ridge Road, Robert Sulpizio of 140 Redwood Road, Paris Simmons of 201 Cascade Drive, and Stanley Little of 34 Olema Road.

Little is a former chairman of the parks and recreation commission and a former city council candidate.

Fitzgerald, Mrs. Elmenhorst and Simmons will be interviewed at Tuesday's meeting. The other two and any new candidates will be interviewed either at another special meeting or the board's next regular meeting Aug. 5, Hammond said.

Piggy Bank Theft

The theft of a piggy bank containing approximately $25 was reported to Marin County Sheriff's deputies Saturday by Wayne Newton, 1010 Empinado Street, Loma Verda, who told officers that someone pried open a bedroom window to gain entrance to the house Friday night.

Driver Booked On Drug Count

A 24-year-old San Francisco man was arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana Saturday by Marin County sheriff's deputies who had stopped his car to inform him that one of his headlights was out.

Arrested on Shoreline Highway near Tamalpais High School was Gerald A. Tucker. Tucker posted $315 bail and was scheduled to appear today at 2 p.m. in Marin Municipal Court.

Sheriff's deputies made the arrest after they saw Tucker drop an object through a hole in the car's floorboard just after they stopped his car at 3:45 a.m. for having only one headlight.

Officers retrieved the object and found a crushed cigarette pack containing a hand-rolled cigarette which officers believed to be marijuana.

Agenda Terms

The Lagunitas School District board will consider staffing and salary adjustments along with bids for paving work at 7:30 p.m. today at Lagunitas School.

Driver's Injuries Minor From Crash

A car, driven by Barbara Badger, 36, of 254 Brookside Avenue, San Anselmo, struck a parked vehicle belonging to William P. Ferrall of 21 Santa Barbara Avenue, San Anselmo, at 4:29 a.m. today on Redhill Avenue near Ancha Vista Avenue, San Anselmo police reported.

The driver was treated for leg and nose bruises at Marin General Hospital.

Girl Hurt In Highway Collision

Patricia Musynske, 14, of Long Island, N.Y., was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering head injuries in a two-car collision at 3:10 p.m. Saturday on Highway 101 just north of the Highway 37 off ramp.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Margaret P. O'Leary, 21, of San Francisco, which struck the rear of a car driven by Leroy R. Hackett, 27, of Oakland, when he slowed for traffic while northbound on the highway.

Neither Miss O'Leary or Hackett was injured in the accident.

The injured girl was placed in the intensive care unit Saturday night but removed yesterday, hospital spokesmen said.

Two Injured On Gate Bridge

Two Southern California men were injured yesterday when their car struck a guard rail on the Golden Gate Bridge.

David Thomas Ochoa, 26, of Cedar Glen and Paul M. Malenfant, 25, of Azusa, were treated for cuts on their faces and legs and released from Marin General Hospital.

California Highway patrol officers said the car driven by Ochoa ran off the roadway and hit the guard rail next to the northbound lanes. The patrol did not have the time of the accident.

Rescue Teams Save Polish Coal Miners

By TERRANCE ANDREW

WARSAW (UPI) — Wives, daughters and sweethearts, weeping for joy, shouted the name of each coal-blackened miner who rose to the surface at General Zawadski mine where gushing mud and water trapped 119 men a quarter-mile underground.

Rescue teams saved all but one of the men in a concerted operation in which Communist Poland borrowed a huge drill from West Germany and employed a revolutionary "mechanical mole" to get food to the men far below.

Thousands of tons of coal dust mud and water poured into the mine near Katowice in southern Poland's Silesian region last Thursday. Rescuers saved 37 of the miners almost immediately and hauled out two more Saturday.

That left 80 miners below; all but one emerged yesterday. One of the miners, Marian Derej, was killed.

Landscaping Study

Community center landscaping and funding of recreation activities are among the topics of discussion for the Rohnert Park Recreation Commission meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at the city building.

Point Reyes Park Fire Ban Imposed

A ban on wood fires has been imposed for the duration of the fire season in back country camps in Point Reyes National Seashore, Park Supt. Edward J. Kurtz has announced.

Kurtz said campers may use only charcoal or camp stoves. He also emphasized that all campers must have camping permits, which can be picked up at the Bear Valley Ranger Station in Olema.

TV REVIEW

Black Stars In 'Harlem Fest' Tonight

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — An hour special entitled "Harlem Festival" airs on CBS-TV tonight, and the music and comedy of this outdoor affair in New York City are worth your attention.

The broadcast was prescreened by this reviewer under CBS-TV's new policy of permitting advance publication of critiques of the network's programs.

"Harlem Festival" is indeed worth seeing. It isn't the best show you'll ever catch, but much of the music is lively and moving, and the comedy antics of George Kirby are a delight.

The program is a tape of a concert given by Negro artists at the third annual Harlem Cultural Festival, an event staged on Sunday afternoons in Mt. Morris Park in New York. It is, in effect, an all-black show, and even the commercials by Maxwell House coffee carry out this theme.

An early press release by CBS-TV said tonight's broadcast would "depict the role of the black artist in the entertainment world," and would also include "dramatic excerpts from the works of noted black American authors and new and rising young writers."

As it turns out, however, the show doesn't really go heavy on much of this—being basically an entertainment entry which comments on the black condition chiefly through the choice of music and humor.

My personal favorites on the show are the Edwin Hawkins Gospel Singers, an exciting, superb, rollicking aggregation whose rhythms will bring out the foot-tapping instincts in anyone.

The Fifth Dimension is on hand too, and so are singer-actress Abbey Lincoln and her drummer husband Max Roach, and the Chambers Brothers, a very gritty and emotionally effective singing-instrumental group. And then there is Kirby, as ingratiating a fellow as ever came down the pike.

The plumpish Kirby did imitations of Louis Armstrong, Pearl Bailey and Bill Cosby, as well as singing and dancing. And he is just a fine fellow to have around, as you'll note if you tune in tonight.

Trial Begins In Slaying Case Of Screen Star

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Two brothers charged with the bludgeon murder of silent screen star Ramon Novarro in his Hollywood Hills mansion went on trial today.

Jury selection was scheduled to begin in the case of Paul Robert Ferguson, 22, a house painter, and his brother, Thomas S. Ferguson, 18. Both are from the Chicago area.

Novarra, 69, was beaten on the head with a cane as he lay bound and nude in his bed. An autopsy revealed he suffocated in his own blood.

The prosecution contends his killers were torturing him to find out the location of $5,000 believed hidden in the home.

The state will seek first degree murder convictions. Paul Ferguson could receive the death penalty but his 18-year-old brother was 17 at the time of the crime and could receive a maximum sentence of life in prison.

Meeting Changed

The Sausalito Library board will meet Aug. 4 at 8 p.m., instead of Aug. 11, in City Hall. Changes in vacation schedules forced cancelation of the Aug. 11 meeting.

Novato Wins Ruth Opener On No-Hitter, 1-0

Judnick Is Hero In Auburn Game

I-J SPECIAL REPORT

AUBURN — He threw the hardest fast ball and the greatest curve I've ever seen a Babe Ruth pitcher throw."

That was Russ Post, one of the Novato All-Star Babe Ruth League coaches, enthusing about Dave Judnick, who single-handedly vaulted Novato past its opening game hurdle in the Northern California Babe Ruth Baseball tournament here last night.

All Judnick did was to hurl a no-hitter, strike out 16 batters and drive in the only run in a 1-0 victory over Menlo Park yesterday.

Only two Menlo Park runners reached base, one on a walk in the fifth inning and another on an error in the fourth inning. Only one ball was hit out of the infield, and that one was caught.

The only run of the game came when Judnick walked with the bases loaded in the fourth inning.

YUBA CITY NEXT

Novato will now meet Yuba City, a 6-5 opening-round winner over Sacramento, tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the double-elimination tournament.

Novato got only four hits, two of them by Jeff deRecat and one each by Marty Larsen and Hoza Wright. They were all singles.

Judnick's strikeout binge included the last five batters and eight out of the last nine batters. Judnick also struck out 16 batters in his last start, an 11-1 win over Sonoma.

RUSS DILLON
A shutout

A Great Debut By Dillon

Novato High School graduate Russ Dillon made an auspicious debut with the San Rafael Braves yesterday and as a result the Braves are in first place in the San Jose Traveling Semi-Professional Baseball League.

Southpaw Dillon pitched a four-hit, 5-0 victory over previously undefeated El Cerrito in the opener of a double-header at San Rafael's Albert Field and then came off the bench as a pinchhitter in the nightcap to double home the tying and go-ahead runs in a 7-4 San Rafael triumph.

The results vaulted San Rafael into a first place tie with El Cerrito and Fontinetti Sporting Goods, each with a 4-2 won-lost record.

More than 600 fans, many of them from Novato to watch Dillon, saw the Marin County Athletic League's "Player of the Year" scatter four singles and strikeout 13 in the opener. He walked none, but hit two batters.

SUPPORTING CAST

He got all the support he needed on a two-run double by Wayne Burd, a two-run single by Dave Edson and a run-scoring single by catcher Rocky Shone.

Frustrated A's On A Treadmill

OAKLAND (AP)—It's getting kind of frustrating for the Oakland A's. They keep winning baseball games but can't gain any ground on the Minnesota Twins in the American League West pennant race.

The A's made it 13 victories in the last 16 games with a 7-2 conquest of the Washington Senators. Over that stretch, the A's have gained only a half game on the first-place Twins.

"I guess we'll have to beat Minnesota ourselves," winning pitcher Lew Krausse said after the game.

Krausse pitched a five-hitter to win his fourth straight game since he was promoted to the starting rotation.

The A's open a three-game series with the New York Yankees tomorrow night. Rookie Vida Blue, 0-1, will pitch for Oakland against Stan Bahnsen, 6-11 of the Yankees.

FIVE STARTERS

"We can use five starters and Blue could be one of them," Krausse said.

"It's a long season."

Krausse, the one-time playboy of the Kansas City A's, credited his success this season to settling down.

"The whoopee life is over for me," he said. "I'm getting married after the season and will settle down."

Krausse pitched a five-hitter for his sixth victory of the year. He was ahead 7-1 until Ken McMullen hit a homer in the ninth inning

CATER STARS

"I could have hit that pitch for a homer," Krausse said.

First baseman Danny Cater provided most of the Oakland offense as he drove in four runs with a homer and single.

Cater lifted his season RBI total to 59. Last season he had only 62 for the entire year.

"I figure I'm a .280 hitter and would be happy to hit that this eason," Cater said. The two hits for Cater yesterday raised his season average to .298.

Manager Ted Williams of Washington figures the A's still have a good chance to catch Minnesota.

"Oakland pitching is getting better. It's been great against us," Williams said. The A's has whipped Washington seven times in nine meetings this year.

"Krausse has improved as a pitcher," Williams said. "He could make the difference for Oakland."

Giants Happy To Leave St. Louis

CHICAGO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, struggling to remain in the National League Western Division baseball race, took a welcome vacation today from umpires and hotshot young pitchers in St. Louis.

The Giants opened a three-game series at Chicago today.

Mike Torrez boosted his record to 5-4 yesterday as he hurled the St. Louis Cardinals to an 8-2 victory over the Giants, who fell two games behind first-place Atlanta and a game behind second-place Los Angeles.

But it was Torrez' antics on the basepaths that rattled the Giants more than his pitching and touched off their second major quarrel with umpires in as many days.

Torrez was safe on an error and an umpire's decision in St. Louis' five-run second inning.

The Cards already had scored once in the first and three times in the second when Torrez bunted in front of the plate with one out in the second.

Catcher Dick Dietz threw wildly to first and the ball hit the chest of first base umpire Lee Weyer.

The Giants' Ron Hunt tagged Torrez, contending the runner

Aussie Keeps World Title

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Johnny Famechon of Australia retained his world featherweight title today, defeating Japan's Fighting Harada in 15 rounds on points in a controversial delayed finish.

Famechon, the World Boxing Council chairman and ranked No. 1 by the World Boxing Association, was given 70 points to Harada's 69 by American referee Willie Pep, the only official in the fight.

However, Pep, a former world featherweight champion, had declared the fight a draw at 71 points each. But one of the promoters, Mickey Duff, took the score book to police supervisors at ringside and a check showed Famechon had won.

Famechon had to be recalled from the aisle on the way to the dressing room to be told he had won.

Marin Star Bill Lee Helps Red Sox Win Marathon

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

All the Boston Red Sox needed was a little time to get warmed up.

They had the time, 5 hours and 52 minutes worth, and after scoring only once in the first 18 innings yesterday they came up with one run in the 19th and three more in the 20th to beat the Seattle Pilots 5-3.

Joe LaHoud's two-run homer, scoring pitcher Jim Lonborg in front of him, was the decisive blow in the longest game of the major league season. Seattle used 24 players and Boston 21, breaking by one the American League record for total players in one game.

(Boston southpaw Bill Lee of San Rafael, former Terra Linda High School and University of Southern California ace, participated in the marathon as a relief hurler. He worked one and one-third innings of hitless, scoreless relief, walking two batters and striking out one. Lee, in his second year of professional ball, was called up from the minor leagues by Boston last month.)

The Baltimore Orioles, running away with the Eastern Division flag in the American League, needed only one inning to push away from Chicago and they went onto trounce the White Sox, 17-0. Elsewhere, Minnesota edged Cleveland, 8-7, Oakland beat Washington, 7-2, Kansas City turned back Detroit, 7-2, and California edged the New York Hankees, 5-4.

After Boston and Seattle went scoreless for 10 innings, the Red Sox snapped the tie in the 19th when Carl Yastrzemski doubled home Syd O'Brien from first base. But the Pilots evened it in their half of the inning on a walk to Steve Hovley, a sacrifice and Jim Parliaroni's single. Tommy Harper homered in the bottom of the 20th for Seattle's final run.

Frank Robinson hit two homers and Boog Powell and pitcher Jim Hardin one apiece as the Orioles stretched their lead to 12½ games over Detroit. Robinson drove in five runs with his 24th and 25th homers and Powell's blast, with one man on, was his 27th. Hardin allowed Chicago only two hits, both to Bobby Knoop, and retired the final 20 batters he faced in winning his fifth game.

Minnesota maintained its three-game lead over runnerup, Oakland in the West as Leo Cardenas hit a three-run homer and Harmon Killebrew drove in his 94th and 95th runs. Rookie Jerry Crider, working in relief, was credited with his first major league victory although he allowed the Indians two runs in 2 2-3 innings.

AUTO RACING ROUNDUP

Unbeatalbe McLaren Duo Romps Again In Can-Am

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

Except for two youngsters named Pete, the auto racing script for the weekend held true to form—particularly that portion of it relating to the rich Canadian - American Challenge Cup series.

Twenty-six-year-old Pete Hamilton won his eighth race in NASCAR's Grand Touring division, a 120-miler at Hickory, N. C., while 25-year-old Pete Revson won one of two 100-milers for USAC championship cars and place third in the other at Indianapolis.

Dennis Hulme, extending the absolute domination of Team McLaren in the Can - Am series, won the Klondike 200 road race at Edmonton, Alberta, by 11 seconds over Ferrari's Chris Amon.

Roger McCluskey, a 30-year-old veteran of all types of racing, survived a dust cloud at Terre Haute, Ind., to win a 100-lap dirt track event for USAC stock cars.

And Richard Petty, two-time Southern stock car champ, won a pair of 200-milers at Maryville and Nashville, Tenn., as he warmed up for the $110,000 Dixie 500 next Sunday.

SECOND VICTORY

Hulme's triumph at Edmonton was his second in the four races thus far on the 1969 Can-Am schedule. His car owner and driving mate, New Zealander Bruce McLaren, won the other two.

Amon, bringing the red Italian Ferrari 612 to the grid for only the second time, was Hulme's only threat after McLaren's own bright orange Chevrolet-powered machine was forced out during the 35th lap. It was a rare engine failure for the McLaren team.

A new Chaparral 2H designed by Texan Jim Hall made its debut at Edmonton and was driven to fourth place by former world driving champ John Surtees of England. Toronto's George Eaton was third.

Dan Gurney, America's top international competitor, won the first 100-miler for USAC cars at Indianapolis Raceway Park, putting his Eagle - Ford across the finish line a scant 50 feet ahead of Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M.

REVSON THIRD

Revson was third in a Brabham-Revco, while McCluskey was fourth in a Coyote-Ford and A.J. Foyt fifth in another Coyote-Ford.

Mario Andretti, seeking his sixth USAC championship victory, finished ninth in the first race after a loose wheel caused him to make an unscheduled pit stop.

In the second race, the 1969 Indianapolis champ tangled with McCluskey in one of the early laps and fell so far behind Revson that he never caught up.

It was Revson's first USAC victory and his Brabham-Revco was the first car with a foreign power plant to win a championship event for Indy-type cars. His winning speed was 94.967 miles per hour.

After his narrow victory in the first race, Gurney had fuel tank trouble at the start of the second 100 and didn't complete a lap.

DUST BOWL

McCluskey's victory at Terre Haute strengthened his hold on first place in the USAC stock car standings. The Plymouth driver gained the lead on the 82nd lap after the race had been stopped briefly because of dust. Race officials said drivers were running into each other because they couldn't see.

Jerry Smith of Appleton, Wis., was second in a Comet while Paul Feltner of Colgate, Wis., was third in a Fairlane.

Petty collected $4,000 for his two NASCAR Grand National victories — his eighth and ninth of the season — and ran his season's earnings past the $60,000 mark.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

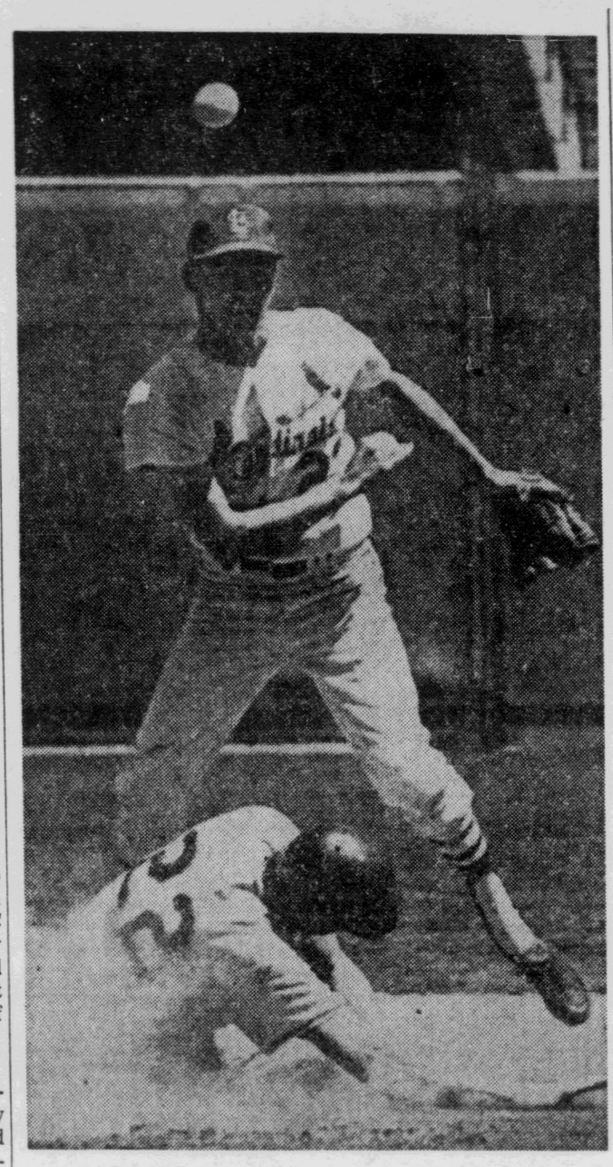

If another bowler starts to pick up his ball from the rack beside you while you're getting set and it distracts you, wait long enough for him to get out of your line of vision. If you go ahead and throw while distracted, you're likely to miss your target.

Nap Could Rap

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — When Nap Lajoie of the Philadelphia Athletics won the 1901 American League batting title with a record .422, he also rapped out 229 hits and scored 145 runs. Lajoie added back-to-back hitting championships in 1903 and 1904 with .355 and .381 averages.

Weyer ruled that Torrez had not made the turn, but had just run down the foul line after crossing first.

Giants' Manager Clyde King maintained the umpire had his back to the play after he was hit by the ball.

The next batter grounded to Hunt, who tagged Torrez at second but dropped the ball.

Torrez then scored on Vada Pinson's double.

The Giants scored once in the fifth on a walk to Bob Burda and singles by Hal Lanier and pinch hitter Bob Etheridge.

They added another in the ninth when Torrez hit Tito Fuentes with a pitch and pinch hitter Johnny Stephenson doubled.

Bobby Bonds, the Giants fourth leading hitter at .275, struck out three times, bringing his season's total to 112.

The National League record for fanning is 163, set by Donn Clendenon when he was at Pittsburgh. Former Baltimore Oriole Dave Nicholson holds the major league mark of 175 for a single season.

College All-Stars 'Ready' For Shot At Broadawy Joe

By JOE MOOSHEL

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All Stars, with a taste of professional football under their helmets, began tapering off today for their meeting with the New York Jets Friday night in Soldier Field.

The mid-summer football classic, featuring Jet quarterback Joe Namath, might draw in the vicinity of 80,000.

The All-Stars climaxed their drills Saturday in a scrimmage with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League and came off with a 6-0 defeat in a game which saw each team begin six series of plays from its own 30-yard line.

A 43-yard pass from Charley Johnson to Johnny Roland set up a three-yard scoring smash by Willie Crenshaw for the game's only score.

"We were pretty good on defense and I liked the way the secondary was knocking down passes," said Otto Graham, head coach of the All-Stars.

Graham, after a three-year tenure as head coach of the Washington Redskins, is back at the helm for the collegians.

He has had experience in coaching All-Star victories. Under Graham, the All-Stars posted their last two triumphs against the professionals champions by downing Green Bay 20-17 in 1963 and Detroit 35-19 in 1958.

JETS FAVORED

Nevertheless, the All-Stars figure to be something like two touchdown underdogs to the Jets and Broadway Joe, rulers of all professional football following last season's shocking 16-7 trimph over the Baltimore Colts.

That decision enabled the Jets to become the first America Football League team to qualify for the All Star Game in the 36th renewal of the classic which began back in 1934.

Graham was highly pleased with the All-Star performance against the Cardinals. "The main thing about this scrimmage was to get on the same field with a pro club," he said.

"Now the All-Stars know they can knock heads with the pros, and stay with them in the important departments," said Graham.

Paul Gipson of Houston clicked for a 19-yard run in which he nearly broke into the open and grabbed two passes from Notre Dame's Terry Hanratty for 36 yards to lead the All-Star attack. Gene Washington of Stanford grabbed four passes for 33 yards.

Hanratty completed six of nine passes for 72 yards while Greg Cook of Cincinnati completed four of nine but had three on-target aerials dropped.

Marin Club Wins Women's Sailing

San Francisco Yacht Club's entry in the Adams Cup women's North American Sailing semifinals at Seals Beach off Long Beach this weekend took three out of four races to win the round-robin races.

The Belvedere club's entry was skippered by Martha McDougle of San Francisco. The races pitted two Northern California and two Southern California Rhodes-19 class boats.

Truckers Defeat Northern Champs

Toby's Truckers made the most of not very much yesterday, topping Annex Motors, 5-3, in a clash of Joe DiMaggio League division leaders yesterday.

In other games, San Anselmo downed Healdsburg, 7-5; the Italian Club nicked Herb's Pool Service, 4-2, and the Presidio shaded Holiday Magic, 4-3. The Mill Valley Chiefs had a bye.

Toby's had only three hits to Annex Motors' nine, but bunched all of them in a five-run second inning to get the win. Toby's leads the Southern Marin division with a 10-3 record for a 1½-game lead over the Italian Club with three games remaining while Annex Motors of Novato (11-3) has already clinched the Northern division title.

Dave MacAusland had two singles and drove in three runs for San Anselmo.

Jim LaTorre and Jerry Piro sparked the Italian Club past Herb's Pool Service. LaTorre hurled a three-hitter and struck out 11 batters while Piro tripled and singled, drove in a run and stole home with the winning run in the third inning.

Dan Mahoney doubled and drove in two runs for Holiday Magic in a losing effort.

Floyd Clinic Helps Floyd Win American Golf Classic

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ray Floyd attended a golf clinic being given by Ray Floyd, and found out what was wrong with Ray Floyd.

"I didn't play any practice rounds here," the brash, cocky character said after winning $25,000 top prize in the American Golf Classic yesterday.

THE WINNER — Raymond Floyd beams proudly after winning the $125,000 American Golf Classic at Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio. (UPI telephoto)

"I gave an exhibition over in Western Pennsylvania," he said. "After playing 18 holes I was giving a clinic and talking to the audience about rhythm and timing.

"While I was talking to them I started thinking that's what had been my problem. I had a good feeling when I came here. I felt it had solved my problems.

"When people would ask me how I'm playing I'd say I was playing real good. I don't think they believed me."

Then he paused for a moment.

"Maybe they'll believe me now."

He proved his point in convincing fashion, shooting a final round 65 for 268, a record for the awesome 7,180-yard par-70 south course at Firestone Country Club called by the touring pros one of the toughest they play.

NICKLAUS SLUMPS

Host pro Bobby Nichols vaulted past the slumping Jack Nicklaus and Bobby Mitchell—who started the final round in a tie with Floyd for the top spot—and took second with a 67 for 272, four strokes back.

Tom Weiskopf was third with a 66 for 274 while Mitchell slipped to 73 and 276 and a tie at that figure with Gene Litler, 68.

Nicklaus, who had six bogeys in a stretch of eight holes, finished with 75 for 278 and a tie with Al Geiberger, 69.

Arnold Palmer had a 71 for 282 well back, and U.S. Open champion Orville Moody went to a 75 for 284.

Former San Rafael resident Ron Cerrudo shot a pair of 68s over the weekend for a 281 total and check for $2,375.

Floyd, 26, son of a golf pro and an avid sports fan who moved to Chicago to be near his baseball favorite, the Cubs, hadn't played well in recent months but said the lesson he learned in the clinic set him up for the tournament.

"I came loaded for bear," the 205-pounder said. "I just had a feeling. . ."

Raiders Set To Take On Kansas City

SANTA ROSA (AP)—Although he admits it is "hot and sticky this time of year" in Birmingham, Ala., there is one Oakland Raider who is looking forward to playing the Kansas City Chiefs there Saturday.

Second-year quarterback Ken Stabler says, "Birmingham was really our home field when I was playing for Alabama—we played about four games a year there."

Stabler said yesterday the knee that kept him out of action last season is responding after an off-season operation and "is all right now."

"I couldn't really get set on it last year, so I couldn't throw as I usually do," he said.

With eight of 15 for 138 yards and two touchdowns in the rookie game against Dallas a week ago, Stabler demonstrated he now can toss them hard and accurately.

The Raiders had a pass drill yesterday, featuring a matching of two rookies—receiver Drew Buie and defensive back Jackie Allen. Observers thought it pretty much of a standoff.

49ER SCRIMMAGE

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—Quarterback John Brodie fired a 53-yard touchdown pass to Leo Johnson and quarterback George Mira bootlegged four yards for another score in Saturday's big San Francisco 49er intrasquad scrimmage.

Steve Spurrier also had his turn at signal caller, hitting 7 of 11.

Coach Dick Nolan said he was pleased with the scrimmage and said the team showed pretty good timing for such an early workout.

Among the rookies, tackle Earl Edwards, joining the team after two seasons in Canada, and speedster running back Gene Moore stood out.

Junior Lacrosse

The San Francisco Junior Lacrosse Club downed Novato's Church of Latter Day Saints, 9-4, in a Northern California Lacrosse match at the San Francisco polo field in Golden Gate Park yesterday.

John Morehouse had a pair of goals for the Novato squad.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Small Investors Like Treasury Bill Yields

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Where do you buy Treasury bills? In what denomination? How much do you pay to buy bills? — M. S., E. P., J. S., R. H.

A. Treasury bills, because of their attractive yields, are receiving increasing attention from the small investor. Purchases in small amounts — in multiples of $1,000 — are possible, if you have a co-operative broker. (Anything under $100,000 is considered an odd-llot.) Denominations or face values range between $1,000 and $1 million but bills are sold at a discount and it is the difference between this and the face value that determines their yield.

Every Monday afternoon the Treasury Department auctions or rolls over these short-term obligations to replace maturing issues. A bond dealer who specializes in governments may or may not be interested in selling an odd-lot — they are accustomed to institutional orders of $1 million or more. If bills are bought through a broker — this is probably your best source — there is a small commission and service charge. By placing an order no later than Friday, your purchase will be included with others in the Monday auction, avoiding an odd-lot charge.

In spite of these various fees you should still get a return equal to around 7 per cent on a 360-day basis, depending on whether the bill matures in 13, 26 or 52 weeks.

Treasury bills can be purchased directly through one of the 36 Federal Reserve Banks, but payment in advance and a good amount of persistence will be required. Other banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System may also purchase Treasury bills for you. In any case, while you may have difficulty locating an agent willing to sell you an odd-lot, Treasury bills are available for the small investor.

There is a definite risk of a small capital loss if the bill is sold on the open market prior to maturity, particularly if interest rates continue to go up. By holding to maturity the risk is eliminated; the government will pay you the face value.

Shakey Stock Prices Keep Tumbling Down

NEW YORK (UPI)—Inflation, tight money and the market's own momentum combined today to send prices sharply lower in moderately active trading.

Electronics and oils led the decline. Airlines, motors, chemicals and steels were off.

Texas Instruments was among the major losers in the electronics. Motorola, Zenith, Honeywell, Westinghouse and RCA were other point-size lowers.

Natomas, which opened trading late because of a flood of orders, led the oils lower in active trading. Texaco and Phillips also were weaker. Atlantic Richfield, Occidental and Pennzoil eased.

Eastman Kodak and Du Pont were among the weakest issues in the lower chemicals, each losing a point or more. Other chemicals were fractionally lower.

Retail Sales Dip, Government Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The commerce department says the economy continued its strong advance in June and inflationary pressures remain severe.

In its survey of current business, the department said "industrial production, nonfarm employment and wages and salaries all scored good sized gains, weekly hours of work moved up and the unemployment rate edged down."

The department said retail sales, however, declined in May and fell further in June.

Muskie Asks Reform In Oil Distribution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, has urged that in relaxing oil import controls, greater imports of foreign crude oil be provided oil-deficit areas of the United States.

Muskie said this process "would require a system to provide allocations of foreign crude oil to geographic areas rather than to individual companies."

The recommendation was contained in a letter to George P. Shultz, chairman of the cabinet task force on oil import controls appointed by President Richard M. Nixon.

"An allocation formula could be developed based on consumer demand and availability of domestic crude oil," said Muskie. He said this would be similar to "the system now operating with respect to residual fuel oil imports."

A geographic area with no oil of its own would receive a greater quota than a low user area or an area with domestic supplies, Muskie said.

"Such a program would be in the best interests of a section of the country like New England, but should pose no serious threat to the domestic oil industry or our national security. It would encourage competition where it counts, in the market place," said Muskie.

The senator is one of several senators seeking legislation reforming tax treatment of the oil industry, including adjustment of the oil depletion allowance from 27.5 per cent for very small oil operators to 15 per cent for large oil producers.

H. Salt, Esq., Leaving Marin For Kentucky Colonel Office

Marin County is losing the headquarters of one of its most widely publicized and dramatic "growth" businesses — Salt's Enterprises, Inc.

Otherwise known to its customers and television viewers as H. Salt, Esq., Fish and Chips, its main office is now in the process of relocating in Louisville, Ky. Since this is the home base of Kentucky Fried Chicken, which merged with Salt some months ago, this move was not entirely unexpected.

The plant at 78 Paul Drive, Northgate Industrial Park, with about 7,500 square feet, has been turned over to William W. Hoey and Co. for leasing. A. R. (Andy) Gilardi of Larkspur, who has been with Salt since last year, will remain in Marin as regional representative, but will select a smaller office.

Fish and chips tycoon Haddon Salt, who became a millionaire before he was 40, is not altogether severing his ties with Marin which gave him his start. He is keeping his home here and will have another one in Louisville.

Harold W. Sinclair Jr. of Santa Venetia has been named loan

He has been with Bank of Marin since its inception in 1962 and had been associated with the former First National Bank in San Rafael. Since 1964 he has been assistant manager in Novato.
